Ground spraying for mosquitos not offered by Town

The Winthrop Board of Health announced that contrary to public perception, the town does not and cannot offer ground spraying for mosquitos. Mosquito control is managed by the state by the NorthEast MA Mosquito Control (NEM-MC) District; usually spraying happens only in response to positive testing for viruses in mosquitos.

Due to the current EEE epidemic, which is statewide but predominantly affects the Southern and Western parts of Massachusetts due to the prevalence of swampy wooded areas where the EEE-transmitting mosquitos preferentially breed, the state has taken over control of which towns and areas receive mosquito spraying and which ones do not. Therefore, no spraying requests by residents or towns are being honored by the MA mosquito control districts at this time.

Spraying is currently performed extensively in areas that are determined to be at high risk for EEE or WNV by the Department of Public Health. Our town has not had any EEE- or WNV-positive mosquitos despite extensive testing being performed on a weekly basis; therefore, we are currently considered a moderate risk level. Hence, no spraying will be performed at this time per DPH order. That means, even if we as a town determined that we would like to be sprayed, per discussion at

Recovery urged to be year round

By Kate Anslinger

As the end of September approaches, CASA (Community Action for Safe Alternatives) Executive Director, LeighAnn Eruzione and Public Health Nurse Meredith Hurley, are urging the community to continue a commitment to recovery throughout the entire year.

In this week's recovery month highlight, Deanna Todisco, shares her connection to recovery from a different perspective. As a parent of an addict, Todisco is a devoted supporter of CASA, and she hopes that her personal story will provide hope in the community. On June 19, 2016, her son Michael, took his life after struggling with addiction.

"I didn't realize there was a serious drug problem in Winthrop until it came to my home. Even then I was in complete denial when it came to my son Michael. Consequences of my son's addiction landed him in jail. This is where he initially got clean from heroin.

Highland Real Estate and Compass join forces

By Sue Ellen Woodcock

Highland Real Estate and Compass have joined forces to make the real estate experience intelligent and seamless with the industry's top talent and technology in the Winthrop area.

Jim Polino, the owner of the 42-year old Highland Real Estate on Crest Avenue, said the new affiliation with Compass was suggested last November when his son Jonathan had a discussion with a Compass agent.

"We're still our own company, we're still our own business, we're an affiliation of Compass," Jim Polino said. "We were doing fine independently. We looked at their stocks and their growth has been nothing short of amazing."

Jim and Elizabeth Polino started Highland Real Estate in 1977. "She helped get the company going in 1977," Jim said.

Polino showed an example from 2016 that the top firms were polled in Massachusetts and Compass wasn't on the list of the top 29.

the last BoH meeting with our NEMMC agent, Kim Foss, we are superseded by the state's virus response policy for the remainder of the season. The same is the case for our surrounding communities. If and when positive mosquitos are found in our town, spraying will of course be promptly performed, as ordered by the state. Of note, residential no spray requests are now void.
That being said, the absence of positive testing in mosquitos in our town does not preclude the possibility of infection. Residents should be advised to protect themselves at any time using DEET-containing repellents and long clothing; the only way to guarantee no infection occurs is to avoid bites. Residents are also advised to promptly report standing pools of water on public property to the town, and advise their neighbors to be vigilant for those in their own yards. Grass should be mowed regularly.

The NEMMC will respond to resident requests for mosquito trapping; please go to the following website if you are concerned and want to make a request for sampling. The more we sample, the higher the probability of detection. <https://www.nemassmosquito.org>

STILL NO CASES OF WNV OR EEE IN WINTHROP

Despite rigorous testing to date, the Town of Winthrop has not had any mosquito pools positive for West Nile Virus or Eastern Equine Encephalitis this year according to the Winthrop Board of Health member Dr. Astrid Weins. The public health risk level posted by the Department of Health remains at low for both WNV and EEE in Winthrop as of Sept. 24. The North East MA Mosquito and Wetlands Control District has informed the Board of Health that at present, spraying \(adulticiding\) is restricted to high risk areas by the state. Testing will end on Oct. 2.
As EEE and WNV remain active throughout the state, residents are urged to use the following personal protective measures until the first hard frost:
\*Wear mosquito repellent, ideally containing DEET
\*Wear long clothing when spending time outside during the hours when mosquitos are most active
\*Avoid outdoor activities during dusk and dawn, if possible
\*Be vigilant of standing pools of water in yards, and if found on public property report those to the town promptly.](https://www.mass.gov/info-details/massachusetts-arbovirus-daily-up-<div data-bbox=)

Winthrop Police arrest man on fentanyl distribution charges

Chief Terence Delehanty reports that the Winthrop Police Department arrested a man today and charged him with selling the deadly drug fentanyl.
Nicholas Vaccaro, age 25, of Winthrop has been charged with:

- Distribution of a Class A Substance -- Fentanyl (Four Counts)
- Possession with Intent to Distribute a Class A Substance -- Fentanyl (One Count)

Winthrop Police arrested Vaccaro following an in-depth investigation into reports of suspicious activity near Vaccaro's residence on Grandview Avenue. Through that investigation, officers determined that Vaccaro was selling fentanyl, and made his arrest a priority.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), fentanyl is 50 to 100 times more potent than morphine and heroin.
This morning, police executed a search warrant at Vaccaro's residence, during which police seized fentanyl, a scale, packing materials, illegal narcotic paraphernalia and cash.
"Community concerns do not go unheard, and this investigation is an example of the importance of seeing something and saying something so that we can take these extremely dangerous drugs off our streets," Chief Delehanty said. "Thank you to the residents who shared their observations with us, and thank you to Chief Mazzie and the Everett Police Department for their assistance in this case."
This investigation was made possible through funding from the Massachusetts Charles E. Shannon Grant.
Vaccaro is scheduled to be arraigned in East Boston District Court tomorrow and is currently being held pending the establishment of bail.
These are allegations. All suspects are considered innocent until proven guilty.

Kennedy announces bid for U.S. Senate

By John Lynds

In front of a standing-room-only crowd at the East Boston Social Centers, U.S. Congressman Joseph P. Kennedy III announce his candidacy for the U.S. Senate taking on incumbent U.S. Sen. Ed Markey.

After touching on the Kennedy family’s roots in East Boston--his great-great-great-grandfather Patrick Kennedy immigrated from Ireland to Eastie in the mid-1800s--Kennedy laid out his vision for his U.S. Senate run.

“I know that, like my family, there are millions of others that are here, that believe in that chance,” said Kennedy. “That strive for that moment to provide for their families, and build a better future for the place that they call home. And I know that through fate, but often times through choices made by this country, by our government, that those barriers have been erected, not taken down. That far too many dreams have been blocked or deferred, rather than realized.”

Kennedy said he runs to tear down a system that has marginalized millions of people in the U.S.

“I know that for the first time in modern American history, we have a President that is actively trying to make that harder. We have a Senate that instead of trying to harness the opportunity and potential of every person in this country, they’re trying to pull us back,” he said. “And I’m running for the United States Senate to tear that down, to fight back, with everything we’ve got.”

Appealing to the liberal crowd Kennedy said President Donald Trump has forced a reckoning in our nation but to meet this moment requires more than just defeating him.

“It requires taking on, clearly, a broken system that calcified structures that allowed him to win in the first place,” he said. “The daily acts of oppression and injustice that enabled 63 million Americans to think that he was a better steward of their dreams and hopes and aspirations. Our country deserves better. We deserve more.”

Kennedy said people deserve an economic justice where a hard day’s work means an honest day’s pay.

“Where you can provide for your family. Where a health care system means that you can get access to the health care that you need when you need it,” he said. “Where people can afford to live in the cities that they call home, the cities that they power. Where we have an immigration policy that is reflective of our humanity and makes our nation stronger. Where we have a healthy planet for our children, and their children. This is that moment. This one counts. For us, and for the generations that come after.”

Kennedy added that the challenge is far too urgent for him to sit and wait for somebody else to take it on--a nod to some Markey supporters that think Kennedy should ‘wait his turn’ to run for Senate.

“I have traveled around this country over the past several years, and every corner of it,” he said. “And I have asked people to do more, to hold on, to fight back a bit stronger, to give every little bit that they’ve got. And so I will too, and I hope that you will join me, for every single day, to prove that the way you fight back against the politics of “you can’t,” against the politics of division, against the politics of doubt about what we can do as a country, is to bring every voice in, to lift every voice, and to believe that if you have a country as good as the people it serves that nothing will get in the way of what we can do.”

Atiyeh Cassidy, James Polino Jr., Sharon Tallent, Jonathan Polino, Elizabeth Polino, Jim Polino, Virginia Brown, Andres Ramirez and Christy D'Ambrosio.

“Today, in 2019, they’re the number two company in the state,” Polino said. “One of the reasons we wanted to affiliate with Compass is so we can bring some of those higher income buyers to Winthrop.”

He’d like to see some of the buyers who are paying a higher price in East Boston come to Winthrop.

“Winthrop has a lot more to offer. We’ve got parking, we have a bus line to the T, a water shuttle,” he said. “It’s all about perception with the buyers. They want the Boston address. So we have affiliated with a company strong in Boston to help bring those buyers to Winthrop.”

In 2016 Compass had the seventh largest real estate office in Boston. In 2019 Compass has attained the number one position.

“When Jonathan and the other agents looked at Compass’ data, they concluded that they’re doing something right,” Polino said, adding that Highland has been engrained in the community and has the number one market share. “We thought that affiliating with that kind of growth would help our sellers in Winthrop.”

Highland Real Estate will take a listing, put it on the Compass platform.

Compass also has some innovative programs like Compass Concierge, which helps sellers prepare their homes for sale with fresh paint, repairs, and staging. Whatever the cost the seller simply pays Compass at the closing. There are also no fees attached to the loan.

Compass also has a “coming soon” platform for sellers who want to list their property on the market but who are not yet ready to have their homes photographed.

Compass also works with Highland to design billboards, the signs on the back of the MBTA buses and postcard mailings.

“This allows us to focus on sales while they help with marketing,” Jim Polino said.

“Our goal is to simplify the real estate process. We have agents from coast to coast,” said Chelsea Clark of Compass. “Compass is the largest independent real estate brokerage nationally with 12,000 agents and 300 Compass offices.”

Clark said they want to make the real estate process seamless and intelligent.

“Compass is the future of real estate,” Clark said.

Congressman Joseph P. Kennedy III greets supporters as he announces his Senate candidacy last Saturday.

Recovery //CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Upon release he began rebuilding his life. He did still drink alcohol. My mindset was that he was 22, it’s not drugs, his life is going well, I didn’t understand how opiates change brain chemistry. I didn’t understand the internal struggle my son faced daily.”

Todisco’s heartbreak has transformed her into a committed supporter of CASA and she hopes that the resources and education that CASA provides, will help others who are faced with addiction.

“If I knew then what I

know now, I hope things would be different,” she said. “When he was younger, I honestly didn’t know he was using opiates. When I found out, I was in denial, which progressed to full blown despair. CASA’s role is to educate and offer resources to addicts and their friends and family. It’s not just drugs-alcohol use in our society sends a mixed message, especially to kids. Engaging the community in events provides the opportunity for conversations and encourages us to come together and overcome the isolating world of addiction and the shameful stigma attached to it. CASA encourages our community to stop judging and start healing.

MCHS provides students with summer apprenticeship

Nine fortunate Malden Catholic High School students recently completed the school’s first Summer Apprenticeship Program, matching up MC students with prominent alumni in the fields of finance, business, law, engineering, public relations and sports management.

Senior Jeremy Mitchell of Revere completed a four-week internship for Allied Marketing in Cambridge, under the watchful eye of its owner and prominent businessman, Mr. Joseph O’Donnell ’62. Mitchell was incredibly thankful for the opportunity “It really opened my eyes to marketing and public relations, and how Allied uses so many different avenues to market its clients. While I learned a lot about how marketing works, the biggest thing I learned while working at Allied is how meaningful relationships are in the business world.”

Mr. Robert McCarthy, Senior Director of Institutional Advancement, said “Malden Catholic students are not only learning about future career possibilities, but also having the opportunity to experience first-hand how classroom learning relates to the various professional industries. Our alumni business leaders are role models for our students building confidence, elevating self-esteem, inspiring new goals, and raising future aspirations transforming classroom learning and challenging our students to go "plus ultra" today and in the future.”

Mitchell was chosen for the internship after a competitive essay and application process with over 40 applicants from Malden Catholic. The Apprenticeship Program included a kick-off BBQ and a Business Training Seminar giving an overview of business etiquette and expectations.

Boys Division Principal Brother Thomas Puccio, said “We are very excited about the launch of our Apprenticeship Program. We dream of a day when all our students can enjoy an internship experience through one of our many successful alumni. Such experiences will give them much better insights into college choices, academic majors, and career pathways after Malden Catholic.”

The inaugural Alumni Hosts were:

- Mr. Joseph O’Donnell ’62; Founder, Boston Culinary Group
- Mr. Richard LeBranti ’94, CFP; Co-Founder at Doble LeBranti Financial Group

OUR Opinions

BAKER'S BOLD MOVE ON VAPING

Gov. Charlie Baker’s decision on Tuesday to order a four-month ban on the sale in Massachusetts of all vaping products, including both tobacco and marijuana electronic cigarettes, is the right move at the right time.

With vaping products accounting for deaths and serious lung illnesses both across the country and in our state, it is clear that there is something dramatically wrong with these products, which ironically have been billed as “healthy” alternatives to smoking by the vaping industry.

Gov. Baker’s declaration of a public health emergency, which promptly was approved by the state’s Public Health Council, represents a bold, first-in-the-nation executive order that we predict will be emulated in other states.

We applaud the governor for taking this action that will keep these deadly products off the market until it can be determined why they are causing such harmful effects upon their users.

LET’S KEEP IN MIND THE FACTS ABOUT HEALTH CARE COSTS IN THIS COUNTRY

The issue of national health care is now front and center in the debate among the presidential candidates of both parties, with each offering their vision of what should be done about this important issue.

Some favor a repeal of Obamacare, some wish to improve upon it, and still others want to implement a “Medicare for all” system.

However, regardless of where one stands on the issue, it is important to keep in mind some basic facts about the costs of the present health care system in this country.

The United States presently spends far more on health care than any other nation in the world. Our health care costs amount to a whopping 17 percent of our gross national product, compared to 10 percent for countries in Europe and elsewhere that offer national health insurance. Ironically however, despite our huge expenditures, we rate near the bottom among developed nations in every category of measures of national health.

Moreover, gaps in our present health insurance system either leave many uncovered or underinsured. As a result, millions of Americans go bankrupt or become impoverished every year when faced with a catastrophic illness because they lack adequate health insurance.

Job mobility, which is a significant factor in the ability of employees to improve their financial circumstances, is hindered because of the lack of a uniform national health insurance system. The fear of losing their existing health insurance prevents millions of Americans from either taking a new job or starting their own business. Study after study has shown that our economy is being weighed down by the burden of a health insurance system that is inefficient and inflexible.

The costs of a Medicare-for-all system frequently are cited by those opposed to a national health insurance plan, but that is only one side of the equation.

The profits of the health insurance industry, about $20 billion annually, are cited by proponents of Medicare-for-all, but think about this figure: The gross revenues of the health insurance industry are about $500 billion. In other words, a half a trillion dollars is being spent annually in our health care system for a product that contributes nothing to anybody’s health or well-being, other than increasing the wealth of the shareholders of the health insurance industry.

In short, Medicare-for-all in nations throughout the world is both more cost-efficient and produces better overall health outcomes for the citizens of those countries compared to the U.S.

When the various candidates discuss their solutions to the health-care crisis in our country, every voter should keep those two facts uppermost in mind.

GUEST OP-ED

Bishops statement on climate change: Embracing Laudato Si

“Saint Francis, faithful to Scripture, invites us to see nature as a magnificent book in which God speaks to us and grants us a glimpse of his infinite beauty and goodness.”[1] In June 2015, Pope Francis made this observation in his powerful encyclical, Laudato Si' - On Care for Our Common Home.

In our home state of Massachusetts, we are blessed with inspiring natural beauty from the seashore on the east coast to the majestic mountain vistas in the west - with rolling hills, vibrant communities and rich farmlands throughout the state. We, the four Roman Catholic Bishops of Massachusetts, call on all Catholics and others of faith in Massachusetts to reflect on this natural beauty – this gift from God. To protect and sustain this gift we must act now within our faith institutions and throughout the state to take substantial, meaningful steps to protect our environmental and provide relief from the impact of toxic pollution and climate change to protect the health and safety of all citizens, particularly the most vulnerable in our society.

Pope Francis “calls for dialogue throughout the world”[2] on how we can be better stewards of the earth and, in so doing, be more responsive to the plight of the poor around the world. His call for an “integral ecology” to be lived out joyfully respects the dignity of each person, identifies a moral obligation to protect the environment, and promotes social justice by supporting responsible economic development with respect for all people and the earth.

Pope Francis stated; “A very solid scientific consensus indicates that we are presently witnessing a disturbing warming of the climatic system. In recent decades this warming has been accompanied by a constant rise in the sea level and, it would appear, by an increase of extreme weather events, even if a scientifically determinable cause cannot be assigned to each particular phenomenon. Humanity is called to recognize the need for changes of lifestyle, production and consumption, in order to combat this warming or at least the human causes which produce or aggravate it.”[3]

For decades reports from highly respected scientific studies also clearly set forth the dangers of climate change in the United States and around the globe. More recently, those studies detail the urgency of this crisis.

- In October 2018, The United Nations Intergovernmental Panel of Climate Change (IPCC) reported we may have as little as 12 years to act on climate change — to slash global emissions 45 percent — to reach limiting global warming to 1.5°C. This would require rapid, far-reaching and unprecedented changes in all aspects of society with clear benefits to people and natural ecosystems ensuring a more sustainable and equitable society.[4]
- In November 2018, The National Oceanic and Atmosphere Administration (NOAA) found the effects of climate change, including deadly wildfires, increasingly debilitating hurricanes and heat waves, are already battering the United States, and the danger of more such catastrophes is worsening. If not mitigated now, in a worst-case climate-change scenario, the document finds financial impacts over $400 billion annually to US economy.[5]According to the NOAA, July 2019 was the hottest month ever recorded worldwide. The five hottest July’s have occurred in the last five years.[6]

- Last month, the United Nations sounded the alarm about food supplies. World food security is increasingly at risk due to 'unprecedented' climate change impact. Today 500 million people live in areas that experience desertification. People living in already degraded or desertified areas are increasingly negatively affected by climate change.[7]

With this immense threat, we may feel inclined to despair, but we are people of faith. Catholic social teaching is built on the principle of subsidiarity, “which grants freedom to develop the capabilities present at every level of society, while also demanding a greater sense of responsibility for the common good from those who wield greater power”.[8] We are called to act with hope and to respond to this challenge with urgency in all facets of our life: as individuals making an ecological conversion in our personal lives; as members of our parishes, schools and businesses striving for structural changes that reduce environmental impact; and as citizens participating in political discussions and fulfilling our civic responsibilities. We are asking everyone to examine their personal vocations and opportunities to take action to take better care of our common home.

Change is hard and at the outset can seem intimidating. Every person’s actions will depend on their life circumstance and their commitment to protect our natural resources. We must each find tangible and substantive actions that are within our grasp. Families should discuss their concerns about the environment and how their lifestyle and consumption is contributing to the climate changes and other environmental degradation. Parishes should integrate Catholic social teaching on the environment in their liturgy and in their religious education program. Action is needed at all levels of government to encourage replacement of fossil fuels with renewable sources of energy while ensuring that the most vulnerable in society are protected from harm during this transition.

We also wish to echo the view of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops who adopted an explicit priority to teach and advocate about integral ecology, emphasizing environmental degradation and its impact on the lives of the most vulnerable.

As a Catholic community we must commit to this effort while Christians around the world celebrate the Season of Creation (September 1st- October 4th). We, the Catholic Bishops of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, pledge our support to addressing this global crisis.

“Start by doing what's necessary; then do what's possible; and suddenly you are doing the impossible.”

ART 897 - WINTHROP'S HOUSES OF WORSHIP THE BAPTIST SOCIETY

In 1867 a group of Winthrop residents formed a Baptist Society which initially held meetings in the Town Hall then located where the current Police Station is today. In 1871 they began meeting in the Grammar School and voted themselves into a Baptist Church, formed a Society and extended a call to the Reverend F.A. Lockwood of North Springfield Vermont to become their Pastor. As the congregation grew so did their desire for their own House of Worship. Land was purchased on Hermon Street for $177.40 at the junction of Belcher Street and a building was constructed for $12,224 as shown in picture one. This building was dedicated as the “First Baptist Church of Winthrop” on May 5, 1873. The initial construction of Hermon Street began at the Main Street end, as early as 1855, to accommodate a couple of nearby homes. During the next fifteen years, the road progressed slowly toward Columbia Square (now known as Met-calf Square) with portions of it on pilings as it passed by what is now the site of the new Arthur Cummings Elementary School. Even in this picture one can see that the street had not yet been paved. This Church is the oldest building constructed for religious services that is still standing on its original site in our town. The second picture shows the interior of the Church as it appeared about 1900 for Easter Services. The decorations were arranged by Charles Payson Floyd and the wording above the Alter reads “I am the resurrection and the life” and “Easter Tidings”. The third picture depicts the Church Building in the 1950 era where it provided a Church School and supported other youth programs. In 1973, the building was purchased by the Winthrop Playmakers who replaced the Alter with a large Playhouse stage. Picture four shows the building as it appeared in 2000. The Playmakers had then vacated this building for other quarters. Today the members of the Evangelical Baptist Teaching and Worship Center now meet at the E. B. Newton Cultural Center under the guidance of Reverend Richard W. May, Pastor. Periodically, our “Then and Now” series will presents more of the ten various Houses of Worship that have provided religious services for the residents of Winthrop.

STUDENT HIGHLIGHT:
Persistence is key for Alex Gibbons

By Kate Anslinger

Alexandra Gibbons has always been taught to be persistent in everything she does. The 17-year-old senior at Winthrop High School credits hard work for the many accomplishments that she's had in life so far.

She has played varsity soccer since she was a freshman and is now captain of the team. In addition to soccer, she is involved with indoor and outdoor track and student council. Gibbons volunteers regularly for school activities and CCD and she referees youth soccer games on the weekends during the fall and spring. This summer, while between seasons, she spent time working at Town Hall through a Parks and Recreation program.

What is your favorite subject?
My favorite subjects are

AP Psychology and AP Biology. Prior to taking psychology my junior year, I did not have much of an interest in the subject. My teacher, Mr. Dixon, made it interesting and kept the class and subject matter engaging. AP Biology presented a more detailed explanation into the subject and my teacher, Mr. Davis, focused on material such as genetics, evolution, and anatomy.

What are your career/college goals?
I plan to attend college and major in biological sciences. I hope to pursue a career in the medical field.

Who is your role model?
My parents are my role models. My dad has taught me how to be persistent and to experience new opportunities. My mom has taught me to be hardworking and to achieve my personal best.

Alex Gibbons.

They have always supported me and encouraged me to accomplish my best in academics, as well as athletics and extracurriculars.

Schlichting in the U.S. Army Military Police Exploring Leadership Academy

This past summer Winthrop Police Explorer Antea Schlichting was selected for the U.S. Army Military Police Exploring Leadership Academy at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

Antea had the unique experience of participating in the National Law Enforcement Exploring Leadership Academy hosted by the U.S. Army Military Police. Only 30 young men and women from around the country were selected to participate.

The academies featured programs on the dynamics of leadership, physical training and law enforcement practices.

On daily basis, they woke up to the sound of revelry playing at 4:30 a.m. They reported dressed and ready for physical fitness and then their days were filled with classroom work, scenario-based training, obstacle and agility course work, defensive tactics, team building exercises and much more.

On the fifth and final day, they participated in a graduation ceremony celebrating their accomplishments from the week.

Winthrop Police Explorer Antea Schlichting and her teammate from the Douglas Country Sherriff's police explorer program (Nevada) Caitlin McLaughlin were awarded "Top Cop" for the week's academy. The Top Cop honor is the top award presented at the academy and represents the fact that they excelled in classroom, Physical Fitness, simulation training, defense tactics and more. It should be noted, that both Antea and Caitlin were the youngest Explorers attending the academy, yet they took the top award.

"We are very proud of Antea for attended this amazing academy. We are especially honored that Antea took the Top Cop award home for the Winthrop Police Explorers Post 99. Antea represents a long tradition of national and local success by Winthrop Police Explorer Post 99," stated Officer Samantha Petersen of the Winthrop Police Department.

Antea also attended the Massachusetts State Police student trooper academy this past summer.

The Winthrop Police Explorers Post # 99 is run by the Winthrop Police Department. If you have any questions about the post or might know someone who is interested in joining the Post between the ages of 14-20 please feel free to contact Officer Samantha Petersen, Detective Richard Ferrino or Lt. Stephen Rogers at 617-846-1212.

WHS SPORTS Roundup

VIKINGS PUT IT ALL TOGETHER IN 23-6 VICTORY OVER SAUGUS

The Winthrop High football team excelled in all three phases of the game -- offense, defense, and special teams -- to record its first victory of the season, a 23-6 triumph over Saugus, before a large and appreciative home crowd under the lights at a glistening Miller Field last Friday evening.

“The entire team did a great job,” said WHS head coach Jon Cadigan. “Everyone made a contribution to the winning effort.”

The Northeastern Conference South Division rivals engaged in a defensive struggle through most of the first two periods until the visiting Sachems drew first blood with a touchdown near the end of the half. The Saugus scoring drive was aided & abetted in large part by a roughing-the-kicker call on the Vikings that moved the ball from midfield to the Winthrop 35.

Saugus took advantage of the second chance, driving the 35 yards to paydirt, with the capper coming on a fourth-and-goal from the eight yard line.

However, the Saugus players then made a mental mistake of their own, incurring a penalty for an overly-exuberant, post-TD celebration. Cadigan elected to move the Sachems back 15 yards on the point-after attempt (rather than taking 15 yards on the kick-off) and the move paid off handsomely when the Saugus place kicker missed the PAT, leaving matters at 6-0.

The Saugus lead proved to be as short-lived as the setting sun. Viking Austin Daigneault picked up the ensuing Sachem kick-off at his own 30 and sped untouched for the entire 70 yard distance en route to the Saugus end zone.

The Sachems then committed another mental error when they were whistled for offsidess on the Winthrop PAT attempt. With the Vikings now just one yard away after moving half the distance to the goal, Cadigan elected for a two-point conversion, which his offensive line and running back Tyler Rockefeller executed to perfection to make it 8-6 in Winthrop’s favor at the half.

The Winthrop defense continued to dominate at the start of the second half and, after forcing a three-and-out, the Viking offense took over in the midfield area. Faced with a third-and-long situation from their own 37, Winthrop signal-caller Bobby Hubert called his own number on a quarterback draw.

After getting past the first level of the Saugus defense, the speedy Hubert turned on the jets, criss-crossing the field for what eventually would register in the books as a 63 yard TD jaunt, though the actual distance he covered no doubt would have been recorded as much greater if he had been wearing a Fitbit.

Once again Saugus jumped offsidess on the Viking PAT attempt and once again, Cadigan chose to go for two. This time it was Hubert who faked the hand-off to Rockefeller and then followed Tyler into the middle of the scrum, plunging over the goal line to make it 16-6.

“We felt as though we could get enough push with our offensive line against their defense to go for the two points, and we were successful on both attempts,” noted Cadigan.

The Viking defense continued to have its way with the Saugus offense, even more so when the starting Sachem quarterback departed with a dislocated elbow. Winthrop then put the game away with a TD in the final period when Rockefeller went in from six yards out. The Vikings had moved into the red zone thanks to a 40-yard pass connection from Hubert-to-Rockefeller on a play-action pass.

Hubert -- who also serves as the Winthrop place-kicker -- finally got to put his foot to good use when Saugus did not jump offside, and Bobby split the uprights for the 23-6 finale.

“Saugus beat us last year in a close game and we had set our sights on this one from the beginning of the season, so getting a win against them made the victory doubly-satisfying,” said Cadigan.

Hubert accounted for a big part of the Viking attack, racking up more than 200 yards of total offense. The junior quarterback passed for 67 yards and rushed for 157 yards on 19 carries. He also scored nine points with his TD, two-point conversion, and PAT kick.

Rockefeller also was a multi-offensive threat. Tyler caught a pass for 36 yards and gained 24 yards on three rushing attempts for a nifty 8.0 yards/per carry average. He accounted for eight of the Winthrop points.

David Diccico made a nice pass reception for 15 yards.

the coaching staff awarded two black shirt awards, which are based on a variety of defensive metrics, to junior linebacker Brian Conceicao and senior lineman Rin Gjinouci.

“This is the second week in a row that Brian has received the award,” said Cadigan. “Once again he played an outstanding game. Rin was awesome. He was all over the field tracking down their ballcarriers and was credited with two sacks.”

Cadigan and his crew, who now stand at 1-1 on the season, will trek to Danvers tomorrow (Friday) evening for a Friday Night Lights encounter with the high-flying Falcons. Danvers last week flew past a Lynn Classical squad (which the week before had defeated Brockton) by a commanding 44-22 margin.

WHS VOLLEYBALL TEAM DEFEATS MT. ALVERNIA

The Winthrop High volleyball team earned a key victory with a 3-0 shutout of Mt. Alvernia this past week. The victory improved the Vikings to 2-0 against Division 3 teams in their quest to qualify for the post-season state tournament.

“Mount Alvernia had some great hitters, but we were able to compete,” said WHS co-head coach Rachel DelSolio.

In other contests this past week, Winthrop dropped a 3-1 decision to Swampscott last Thursday and came up just short to Beverly, 3-2, this past Tuesday.

“The Beverly match definitely was our most competitive match that we have played so far this season,” said DelSolio. “The last set was neck-and-neck the whole time and we lost by two points. Despite the score, our team played very well against a strong-hitting team. We continue to improve each game.”

Winthrop will host Danvers this evening (Thursday) and will entertain Revere on Monday. They will travel to Marblehead on Wednesday.

BOYS SOCCER FALLS SHORT VS. SAUGUS

The Winthrop High boys soccer team dropped a 3-2 decision at Saugus last Tuesday.

After spotting Saugus a 2-0 lead in the first half, junior Antonio Xavier pulled the Vikings within a goal after the intermission when he volleyed the ball into the low corner after the ball had deflected off a Saugus player.

Saugus responded to make it 3-1, but Winthrop struck back when junior Chris Nunes reached the back of the Saugus net with an assist from senior Abdul Hamada.

However, the Vikings were unable to bring the contest back to level before the ref’s final whistles. Winthrop was playing without the services of starting keeper Augie Cherico (who was ill). Juan Pablo Ramirez stepped into net in place of Cherico and made a few saves.

“Unfortunately, we did not play our best and Saugus took advantage of it,”

The Winthrop Vikings ended up on the short side of a heartbreaking 3-2 volleyball decision at Beverly Tuesday, Sept. 24. The Vikings had a 2-1 advantage after three close matches, but Beverly evened things in the fourth match. The Panthers prevailed 15-13 in the deciding fifth match.

Last Thursday, the Vikings hosted Lynn English and came up on the short end of a 6-0 decision. English took control of the contest with two early goals and maintained their advantage the rest of the way.
Winthrop managed just three shots on net and Cherico made a number of saves.
Gavin and his crew will host Danvers tomorrow (Friday). They will travel to Tech Boston Academy next Tuesday and to Marblehead next Thursday.

Edward Langley

National Guard Major General, member of State Guard and Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company and NE Telephone Co. retiree

Edward J. Langley of Winthrop and Woburn died on Sept. 18 at the age of 97.

Ed or "Ted" to his family, grew up and attended school in Arlington. He was the oldest of five children of Edward and Gertrude (MacDonald) Langley. He met his sister's friend, Marjorie Aiken, while in high school and they married in 1943. He was inducted into the U.S Army in November 1942 and served with the Corps of Engineers building roads and bridges to advance the troops in France, Germany and the Philippines.

Upon discharge in 1946, Ed and Marge lived in Arlington and he worked for the NE Telephone Company. He and Marge purchased a piece of land in Woburn and using his construction skills, he built the home where they raised their family. Over his 40-year history with the phone company he did installation, repair, dispatch and provided driver's safety classes. He hung from many a pole on a cold winter day.

After coming home from the war, Ed joined the National Guard and over 40 plus years in the Guard he rose to the rank of Major General. He loved his troops and his yearly two week trips to Camp Drum. He also served in the State Guard and was a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

In addition to building his Woburn home, he built their Winthrop "summer" home where the family spent many enjoyable summers with aunts, uncles and cousins. He loved gardening and spent the winter looking at seed catalogs, ordering seeds and planning his two gardens. If you visited either of his homes, you were bound to get a tour of his gardens and if the timing was right would leave with tomatoes, peppers and a few zucchinis.

Above his love of service to his country and gardening was his love of his family. His love, Marge, was his "Executive Officer," getting things done. He loved to teach his children, grandchildren and neighbor children by "doing" and "hands on." Whether it was planting seeds, making cement or shingling a roof, he was patient in teaching how to get the job done right. Pictures and videos of his grandchildren and great grandchildren brightened his days.

He was the beloved husband of Marjorie P (Aiken) Langley of Winthrop and Woburn for 75 years, dear father of Edward J. Langley and his wife Barbara of Acton, Kathleen Allenbrook and her husband, Mike of Florida, Karen Langley and her husband, Charles Carr of Methuen and Margery Fuccione and her husband, John of Burlington; grandfather of Brian Langley and his wife, Erin, Colleen Thompson and her husband, Jeff, Ronnie Weafer and his wife, Anaika, Stefanie Rogers and her husband, Wayne, Michael Weafer and his wife, Amy, Quiana Langley-Carr and her partner, Ivette Fajardo, Kareem Langley-Carr, Carol Fuccione and her husband, Nick Seagers, Lisa Fuccione and her husband, Peter Mitchell, he was predeceased by grandson Ed Langley, who was his namesake and he was the great-grandfather to: Brenden, Payton, Kennedy, Cooper, Matt, Nora, Chase, Max, Olivia, Nathan, Zeia, Auni, Victoria, Jackson, Fiona and Colin. He is also survived by his sister, Joan (Langley) Sullivan of Woburn.

The funeral was conducted from the Caggiano-O'Maley-Frazier Funeral Home on Monday, Sept. 23 followed by a Funeral Mass in St. John the Evangelist Church, Winthrop. Services concluded with military honors in the Belle Isle section of Winthrop Cemetery.

To sign the online guestbook, go to www.caggiano-funeralhome.com.

Treasurer Goldberg announces 'Operation Safe Campus'

Last weekend, the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission (ABCC), under the direction of state Treasurer Deb Goldberg, will implement Operation Safe Campus. The program objective is to proactively prevent tragedies by keeping alcoholic beverages out of the hands of underage students on and around college campuses throughout Massachusetts.

"Stepped-up monitoring and enforcement can save lives and prevent tragedies before they happen," said Massachusetts State Treasurer and Receiver General Deborah B. Goldberg, who oversees the ABCC. "Operation Safe Campus takes immediate and effective steps that result in the direct prevention of underage drinking and acts as a long-term deterrent to bar and package store owners serving and selling to minors."

The initiative primarily consists of enforcement in the parking lots and surrounding streets of specific liquor stores and in bars that have historically had a serious problem with underage individuals purchasing alcoholic beverages through false identification or through adults procuring alcoholic beverages for them.

The program focuses on front-line prevention, with investigators often calling a teen's parents when violations occur. ABCC officials say that most parents are unaware that their children are involved in the use of alcohol, and that the intervention is a powerful tool toward family involvement in addressing the problem of underage drinking.

"We want to draw attention and make people aware that underage drinking can have devastating consequences on them and the individuals they love," said Goldberg. "By increasing awareness, we are educating college students and their families as well as proactively targeting specific events and time periods throughout the year in order to prevent these situations."

The bars and liquor stores that are charged will be summoned for a hearing before the ABCC; if found to have violated the law, the bar's liquor license could be subject to suspension, modification or revocation.

In 2018, ABCC programs produced the following results: 998 minors in possession or transporting alcoholic beverages; 174 adults procuring alcohol for minors; 164 individuals in possession of false identification; with 378 cases of beer and 508 bottles of alcohol confiscated by Investigators, preventing delivery to approximately 6,592 underage individuals. In addition, 89 bars and liquor stores were charged with 209 counts of sale to underage persons.

Alcohol studies have reported:

- 1,825 college students between the aged 18–24 die each year from alcohol-related injuries, including motor vehicle crashes;
- 696,000 students between the ages of 18 and 24 are assaulted by another student who has been drinking;
- 97,000 students between the ages of 18 and 24 report experiencing alcohol-related sexual assault or date rape; and
- the overall cost of alcohol abuse by youth in Massachusetts is estimated at $1.4 billion.

House representatives stated that while they are not required to hire all Chelsea residents, they will make a good-faith effort to make sure 50 percent of the employees are city residents.

ZBA Chair Janice Tataraka asked about security at the facility.

Security will include approximately 80 cameras covering all areas of the facility, and there will also be several silent security alarms and at least two security officers on duty at all times.

City Planning Director John DePriest said Police Chief Brian Kyes is satisfied with the security plan.

•In other business, the ZBA held a public hearing on a special permit for a proposed nine-unit, three-story condominium complex at 75-79 Spencer Ave.

DePriest said the Planning Department supports the proposal.

“The petitioner has been working with the department for the better part of a year, and they developed a revised plan that fits in with the neighborhood better,” said DePriest.

Perlatonda said he was glad to see a proposal for owner-occupied units in the city to help balance the number of rental developments in the city.

The project will go before the Planning Board on Sept. 24, and come back to the ZBA for a vote on the special permit Oct. 10.

NOISE STUDY
CHELSEA

CHELSEA - Don’t expect the jumbo jets to stop roaring over Chelsea anytime soon, but a new noise study could lead to a better understanding of sound levels and their health effects in the city.

The Community Noise Lab at Boston University’s School of Public Health is conducting the study and collecting data free of charge to the city over the coming year. Last week, Erica Walker, the founder of the Community Noise Lab, met with residents at GreenRoots to discuss the scope and goals of the study.

“This is a study that is being done not just in Chelsea, but in several communities across Greater Boston,” said Walker.

While there is an obvious interest from residents and city officials about noise levels from Logan Airport, Walker noted that the Noise Lab studies are about more than the straightforward measuring of decibels.

The Community Noise Lab’s approach is centered on community-identified noise issues, which it investigates using real-time sound monitoring as well as a downloadable phone app, NoiseScore, Walker said.

With the support of the community, the data is used to understand noise issues and their impacts.

“A lot of studies look at only how loud the noise is, not the frequencies and other issues,” Walker said. “We are also interested in noise that you can feel and how it impacts your health.”

Walker pointed to a sound map that she helped create for Boston, with one side showing sound levels, and the other factoring in the perception of noise by residents in different neighborhoods.

“East Boston is not one of the loudest areas in the city, but the perception of noise in the neighborhood is through the roof,” Walker said.

In Chelsea, the Noise Lab’s study will include the use of eight noise monitors that will be rotated at different locations throughout the next several months. Those monitors will be placed both at the residences of volunteers, and at various municipal locations.

CHELSEA COMMUTER RAIL STATION HAS GROUNDBREAKING MOMENT

City and State officials held an official groundbreaking ceremony for the new Commuter Rail Station behind Market Basket on Friday, Sept. 13. The new station will replace the old one and will provide much better interface with the new Silver Line. (L-R) Councilor Judith Garcia, former City Manager Jay Ash, Council President Damali Vidot, City Manager Tom Ambrosino, MBTA Director Steve Poktak, Gov. Charlie Baker, Transportation Secretary Stephanie Pollack, State Sen. Sal DiDomenico and State Rep. Dan Ryan.

Walker said there are currently about 50 locations slated for monitoring.

In addition, Walker encouraged residents to download and use the NoiseScore app, which can provide real-time recording of noise levels for use in the study.

There is also a community noise survey she urged residents to take part in on the Community Noise Lab website at noiseandthecity.org.

City Councillor Roy Avellaneda asked if the collected data will be able to correlate noise with airplane traffic.

“It won’t be as specific as that, but we can correlate (the data) with general air flight data over the area,” Walker said. She also noted that the study is about more than tracking noise from Logan airport.

“The data will be freely available to use,” she said. While the study probably won’t be enough to change flight patterns over Chelsea by itself, Walker said it will arm the city with information.

During the presentation, City Manager Tom Ambrosino asked when the noise study would get underway.

“We are just waiting for the greenlight,” Walker said.

“You have the greenlight,” Ambrosino said. “Go for it.”

At a City Council meeting earlier this month, Ambrosino also stated that there have been discussions with a Georgia firm to conduct additional noise testing at a cost of $25,000. The City Manager recommended the Council approve using money from the City’s stabilization fund to pay for the additional testing.

District 1 Councillor Robert Bishop said he supports noise testing, but was against funding it from the city’s stabilization fund, which he said should be the last option for funding city programs and requests.

INTEREST IN DEVELOPING LOTS

EVERETT - Everett Redevelopment Authority (ERA) members said they were encouraged with the interest in the parking lot parcels at Everett Square through the recent bidding process that has taken place through the summer.

After a meeting of the ERA, City Planner Tony Sousa said they had received five proposals from their Request for Information (RFI) they put out to the development world at the end of the spring.

“The purpose of the RFI was to gauge if there was interest,” he said. “Indeed, there was interest. We talked to other redevelopment authorities in Malden and Worcester and five proposals are pretty solid. Sometimes you don’t get any and sometimes you get a couple. We have been told that three to five proposals is the sweet spot.”

The ERA had put out a previous RFI for the Square last year, and got back three proposals. However, at that time, the City had not yet been approved by the state for its Everett Square Urban Renewal Plan (URP). After having been approved for that plan earlier this year, they decided to put out another RFI. Only one proposal from the earlier round re-submitted, Sousa said.

Those who have submitted proposals include:

- Sal Sacro of the Sacro Development.
- Di Girolomo Cos./Rich Di Girolomo, owner of Braza Grille property.
- Legacy Building and Development/Charlie Zamuto, developer of the old pizza place on Main Street.
- Equity Residential.
- Chestnut Equity/Building Wealth & Communities/Boston Realty Advisors (Joint venture).

The RFI was specifically gauging interest in the parking lots in Everett Square adjacent to Braza Grille and the Sacro Tower. The City has called for a mixed-use development that would include residential and retail on the ground floor. There was a preference for developers who were willing and able to leverage relationships with adjacent property owners to combine parcels and create a larger development along with the parking lots.

“We were asking for developers that could develop the lots and also strike a partnership with existing property owners particularly on the corner of Everett Square – the Bouvier building is one of them, of course,” he said.

He said there is also a major preference by the City for developers whose proposals include retaining existing tenants in the buildings. They do not want to see businesses in the Square displaced by new development, he said.

After an executive session on Monday, the ERA decided they would likely hire an outside consultant to give them expert opinions on the five proposals. He said they would be working very hard throughout the fall to evaluate the five proposals, with the goal of coming to the City Council in November with a full recommendation.

This time around, Sousa said they improved their outreach using internal development channels and local media – as well as social media and e-mail blasts to prominent developers throughout the Northeast.

He said the RFI was just the beginning of what will likely be a re-make of the Square in a public/private partnership that will include numerous parcels in and around the Broadway corridor.

“We are excited to get interest back, but also excited to get interest in the caliber of the different firms that put their plans and ideas together for the ERA,” he said. “It’s a good process and we’re committed. At this point, we’re rolling up our sleeves and we’ll be working with the consultant to help us evaluate what we received.”

He said they have not yet hired a consultant, but would be on the market to look for one very soon.

CITY OFFICIALS
GIVE PARKING
UPDATE
ON LOWER
BROADWAY

EVERETT - Three months after Encore Boston opened its doors to the public, City officials met with Council on Sept. 3, to update them on the parking situation on Lower Broadway.

Prior to its summer recess back in June, Council meetings were dominated by concerns about how the casino opening would impact the day-to-day life of residents in Everett, not the least of which was the worry that residential districts would be flooded with non-residents parking along the streets and taking public transportation down to the resort.

At that time, some Councilors felt that the City’s focus on Lower Broadway was too small in scope and ignored potential issues outside of this area. It was agreed that the city would address Council in another three months to provide an update.

Everett Police Sergeant Joe Gaff and the Mayor’s Chief of Staff Kevin O’Donnell announced that the traffic and parking situation on Lower Broadway was “better than anybody anticipated,” something they attributed to educating the community about using public transportation.

“Everybody who’s put their energy down there is reaping the rewards. Businesses are happy with their business passes and sticker program,” said Sgt. Gaff. “The parking lot has only been full a couple of
