The poles that were downed by high winds near the Winthrop Yacht Club caused major blackout issues on Friday in the Point Shirley area. It is reported that gusts reached up to 75 mph in the area.

Storm leaves sections of Winthrop in the dark

Special To The Transcript

All power has been restored in the Shirley Street area and life is back to normal after heavy winds knocked down telephone poles there last Friday afternoon.

The winds that reached 65 miles per hour and the ensuing cold front took down a telephone pole (with three transformers on it) at 600 Shirley St., across the street from the Winthrop Yacht Club (WYC).

According to Fire Chief Paul Flanagan, the weight of the transformers caused two additional telephone poles to fall to the ground.

"The new telephone poles were reset that night, but due to the high winds and the open area where it happened and the fact there were high-voltage wires – utility workers don't go up in the buckets when the wind exceeds 25 miles per hour – the work didn't commence until the next day," said Flanagan.

The chief said National Grid crews came to Winthrop and worked all day on Saturday (in frigid conditions) and restored power at 6 p.m. At the height of the emergency, more than 1,800 customers were without power. Flanagan put out a code-red call to all-impacted Winthrop residents informing them of where to get assistance.

Throughout the incident, the Winthrop Fire Department had an engine and a crew stationed at Church Square and Deer Island. Firefighters rode through the darkened streets helping residents and informing them of power restoration efforts on Shirley Street.

Morrison tells history of Mass. to members of WIHA at dinner

Story & Photos by Marianne Salza

In 1630 Boston was a small peninsula of 739 square acres, where a dedicated community of 30 English families survived a brutal winter and were able to develop a vibrant economy of over 100 families in five years. John Morrison, President of the Partnership of Historic Bostons (PHB), told the story of how Massachusetts formed and became self-governing during the Winthrop Improvement and Historical Association's (WIHA) first Members Dinner and Lecture of the new year, on Feb. 4, in the Deane Winthrop House barn.

"Acting together, they would make a new form of government that is both civil and ecclesiastic, and that's care is for the needs of the public," explained Morrison, who produces walking tours for Boston by Foot.

From 1625-1630, a whole society of English tenant farmers executed a mass emigration to America in hopes of religious freedom and safety. They carefully planned the supplies that were needed to begin a successful base of operation, including every material necessary to continue their crafts.

"The desire to commercialize England's economic system forced people off the land and resulted in a huge increase in the money people earned for a day's labor," said Morrison. "There was a great number of peo-

FLOOD INSURANCE INFORMATION POSTED

With the past months flooding due to the extremely heavy rainfall, and recent severe storms in the New England area, New Englanders should prepare for the hurricane season (June 1 thru Nov 30). Homeowners, renters, and business owners are urged to purchase a policy through the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

Flood Insurance

Homeowners insurance does not typically cover flooding, so you may need to purchase flood insurance. At Floodsmart.gov you can learn how to buy flood insurance from the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). Remember: it takes 30 days from date of purchase for flood insurance to take effect.

FEMA assistance is not the same as insurance. Assistance only provides the basic needs for a home to be habitable. Insurance covers more damages. NFIP payment are not dependent on state or federal disaster declarations.

Got to www.floodsmart.gov to learn more about any property's flood risk, estimate and NFIP premium or locate an insurance agent who sells flood insurance. Visit www.ready.gov/floods for flood information and safety tips.

Winthrop Police Department reminds residents of upcoming Hands-Free Law for drivers

Chief Terence M. Delehanty and the Winthrop Police Department would like to remind residents of the upcoming hands-free law for drivers.

On Feb. 23, An Act Requiring the Hands-Free Use of Mobile Telephones While Driving will go into effect prohibiting drivers from using cellphones and other hand-held devices while operating a vehicle. There will be a grace period through March 31 in which drivers will get a warning for their first violation rather than a fine.

The law states that no motor vehicle operator may use electronic devices while driving unless the technology is being used hands-free. Operators found to be texting, dialing phone numbers or using a phone with their hands in any capacity while driving will be fined.

Operators are permitted to use hands-free technology including Bluetooth, “single tap or swipe” to activate or deactivate hands-free mode, navigation technology mounted to the car's dash and phone use in emergency situations. Drivers may use their phones if they are stationary and not in an active traffic lane.

The penalty for drivers who are found guilty of violating the hands-free law is a $100 fine for a first offense, a $250 fine for a second offense and a $500 fine for a third or subsequent offense. Operators who commit a second or subsequent offense are also required to complete an educational program focused on distracted driving prevention. A third or subsequent violation will count as a surchargeable incident which can affect the driver's insurance rates.

“Distracted driving has become a serious issue for drivers of all ages,” said Chief Delehanty. “We hope this law will remind people of the importance of paying attention to their surroundings while driving and will greatly reduce the number of traffic incidents that are caused by distracted driving.”

The act also includes a requirement that law enforcement agencies report data on violations. The data collected by law enforcement will be available to the public.

This section will not apply to public safety personnel or emergency first responders using a mobile electronic device while operating an emergency services vehicle and engaged in the performance of their duties.

OUR Opinions

HOUSE SPEAKER BOB DELEO ACHIEVES A MILESTONE

When we first heard the news that House Speaker Bob DeLeo had eclipsed the previous record for the longest-serving tenure as Speaker of the House of Representatives in Massachusetts history (which had stood since the early 19th century), our immediate reaction was, “Where did the time go?”

It’s hard to believe that Bob ascended to the speakership more than a decade ago amidst political turmoil at the state level and economic chaos across the nation.

However, like a phoenix rising from the ashes, during the course of these past 11 years Massachusetts universally has been recognized as a leader among the 50 states by almost every statistical measure. In addition, our state’s fiscal balance sheet is stronger than it ever has been.

Governors have come and gone, as have Senate Presidents, but the one constant at the State House for more than a decade has been House Speaker Bob DeLeo, whose steady hand at the tiller of the ship of state has been responsible, more than any other individual in state government, for guiding Massachusetts through stormy weather to the smooth sailing amidst calm seas that we enjoy today.

During Bob DeLeo’s tenure as House Speaker, Massachusetts has been a national leader on countless issues, including the environment, public education, common-sense gun laws, public health, and criminal justice reform.

For those of us who have known Bob DeLeo from the time that he first entered public office at the local level more than 40 years ago, it is not surprising that he universally has been recognized as the guiding force behind Massachusetts’ ascension to the top tier of states that has set the standard not only for our own country, but globally as well.

Bob DeLeo has brought to state government the core values of honesty, decency, and respect for others -- character traits that have been evident to all of us who have known him since his youth -- that have transcended our politics as usual. More than any individual in state government in this decade, Bob has been a unifying force in bringing together disparate groups to achieve common goals.

Yet despite his national profile and the demands of his office, Bob DeLeo always has maintained his dedication to the communities he serves. He has been a fixture over the years at local high school sporting events and has used his experience as a former selectman in his hometown of Winthrop to ensure that his constituency of Winthrop and Revere has been well-served.

We know we join with all of our fellow residents in Winthrop and Revere in congratulating Bob DeLeo upon achieving this milestone and trust that he will continue to extend even further his tenure as our Speaker of the House.

THE (CLIMATE) NEWS IS ALL BAD

At the start of World War II, President Franklin Roosevelt reportedly said to his aides, “So far, the news is all bad,” referring to the reports from the front in the immediate aftermath of Pearl Harbor when the Japanese were taking unopposed control of territory throughout the Pacific.

That’s the way we’ve been feeling lately about the matter of our changing climate and the resulting degradation of the environment in every corner of the planet. Week after week, all we hear and see is bad news about the negative effects of climate change.

At the beginning of the year, there were the terrible images of the continent of Australia, literally on fire, with great clouds of smoke suffocating the populace and even affecting the people of New Zealand, which is 1,300 miles across the sea. There also were the estimated hundreds of millions of wildlife creatures who were consumed by flames that became so hot that they formed a phenomena known as a fire tornado.

In the middle of January, we in the Boston area, along with most of the Northeast, experienced record-high temperatures that reached 70 degrees on back-to-back days for the first time ever in the supposedly-coldest month of the year.

Europe also experienced its warmest-ever January.

The warm winter trend has continued into February. Just this past weekend, as we were watching the local news, the weatherman said that the average temperature in Boston thus far in February is a whopping 8.8 degrees above normal.

Last week, it was reported that the highest-ever temperature, 64.9 degrees, was recorded in Antarctica, a reading that was comparable to the high temperatures in the southern half of the U.S. on that day. Similarly, last summer saw record-setting high temperatures in the Arctic Circle at the earth’s northern pole.

Bob Dylan wrote, “You don’t need a weather man to know which way the wind blows.” Similarly, none of us need the experts to tell us that climate change is happening at a far greater rate than even the most dire of forecasts had predicted just a few years ago -- the evidence is all around us. (And at the other end of the political spectrum, we certainly do not need bozo politicians in Washington telling us that climate change is NOT happening).

Those of us who live in the Greater Boston area are among the most at risk for the twin dangers of climate change posed by rising sea levels and massive storms.

The inescapable reality facing us simply seems to be this: Given the inaction of our federal government leaders to reduce carbon emissions, which are at the root of climate change, it would appear that our way of life as we know it is all but doomed, as the impact of climate change grows by degrees, literally and figuratively, day-by-day.

LETTERS to the Editor

SUPPORTS SANDERS FOR PRESIDENT

Dear Editor,

I support Bernie Sanders for President because his message is the most progressive in the bold ways we really need and he has always been the most consistent in his views. First let me say that I believe for many reasons to do with our safety, health and because we have an economy that benefits the rich nearly exclusively, that we don’t need another term with Donald Trump.

And so three policy areas of Mr. Sanders that I’ll touch upon are Health Care, The Green New Deal, and Foreign Policy. On Health Care policy, Bernie Sanders is the only candidate fully supporting Medicare for All, H. R. 676, a bill he wrote himself and introduced in 2016. It is an obvious fact that everyone needs access to healthcare and that thousands of people across our country go without adequate care because of outrageous costs they can’t afford. Single payer systems in all other developed countries cost less than what we pay and have better health outcomes to prove it. That is a system that’s morally right and the only way to give absolutely everyone the care they need.

Elizabeth Warren, a top contender in the list of Democrats, has supported it previously but it seems she has now backed out of it. With her plan there’ll be a public option for three years then an indefinite private option catering to insurance companies. Bernie maintains his consistency.

The Green New Deal, S. 7023, co-sponsored by Mr. Sanders, transforms an entire energy system away from fossil fuels; this is the bold vision called for in these worrisome times of sinking ice sheets and increased intensity and number of huge storms everywhere. Alexandria Ocasio Cortez, the co-writer of this with Bernie, is just one of several new and younger Democrats, many of them women, who have led a bold charge on Environment. It will create jobs for newer energy based companies and move the U.S. to be Carbon neutral by 2030. No other candidate is talking up this important environmental policy even though there’s been a lot of momentum behind it. This great bill can’t get into law without keeping it alive in the conversation. Elizabeth Warren doesn’t support it because she says 2030 is too soon to be practical but if we don’t aim high and boldly how will we ever achieve greatness!! History has shown us that bold visions always help achieve much more than not so ambitious plans, and it’s especially important in this case when what we’re pushing for is nothing less crucial than whether or not our children can live here on earth in a safe, healthy environment!

On Foreign Policy, Mr. Sanders has consistently supported peace, negotiating with all countries, and human rights in everything we do. As true on other policies, you don’t read or hear from any of the other candidates any deep visioning of the right moral stance we should take as you clearly get from Bernie on this. I especially love a quote by Bernie from December 2019: “We must address the root cause to end these endless wars.” For our safety and well being in this dangerous world, we should be smart enough to embrace Mr. Sander’s vision for peace since to not really dream of peace and envision it for ourselves, how can we achieve it?

I got this information from the non-profit, bipartisan site www.ontheissues.org. And one other fact is that with PAC money Bernie Sanders doesn’t take any; he’s the only major candidate who can claim that. A final point is that we’ll be able to count on Bernie Sanders doing what we want him to do because he’s the only major candidate who takes no PAC money.

Please join me in voting for Bernie Sanders for our safety, security, health, peace and prosperity.

HELP YOUR LOVED ONE QUIT VAPING, SMOKING, OR OTHER TOBACCO PRODUCTS

Dear Editor,

February is American Heart Month, so before you think about what kind of flowers or type of candy to buy for Valentine’s Day, choose the Valentine that is better than any bouquet of expensive red roses or box of chocolates: show your love by supporting your sweetheart in quitting vaping, smoking or other tobacco products. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), smoking is a leading cause of heart disease; it can lead to the narrowing of blood vessels and high blood pressure. Quitting smoking greatly improves heart health. Vaping is still fairly new and less is known about its effect on the heart. However, the American Heart Association reports that two new studies find that vaping may be just as dangerous by increasing heart disease risk factors.

Give Valentine’s Day new meaning by helping your loved one quit vaping, smoking or other tobacco products. If your sweetheart is thinking about quitting, here are some ways your gift of support can encourage them along their journey:

1. Let your sweetie know you’ll be their quit partner for as long as it takes – a person usually tries to quit many times before they quit for good.

2. Remind them that going cold turkey is not always the best option. Recommend that they talk to their doctor about medications to help them quit. People who use quit medicine are twice as likely to quit for good!

3. Help them celebrate the small victories – like the first 24 hours of being nicotine-free, the first week, or the first time they make it through a stressful event without using tobacco or nicotine products.

4. Bring them little treats like sugar-free gum, mints, and healthy snacks to help keep their hands and mouth busy.

5. Distract them from cravings and help them relieve stress – take a walk with them, send them a reassuring text, or just run an errand together.

If it seems like your loved one is in a bad mood, try not to take it personally – nicotine is a very addictive drug! Quitting is one of the most difficult things they will ever do.

Lastly, it is common for those attempting to quit to slip up and vape or have a cigarette. If this happens to your loved one, don’t be discouraged or critical. Help them think about what they learned from that quit attempt and remind them of all of their good reasons for quitting. Most importantly, let them know you’re there for them when they’re ready to try again.

To learn more about how you can help your loved one quit vaping, smoking or using other tobacco products, visit KeepTrying-MA.org. Vapers, smokers and other tobacco product users can call 1-800-QUIT NOW (1-800-784-8669) for free coaching through phone, e-chat, and text 24 hours each day, seven days a week or they can enroll online through KeepTryingMA.org.

This Valentine’s Day and American Heart Month, give the perfect gift; show your beloved just how much you care with the gift of support and, ultimately, heart health.

ART 917 – ONE OF THE COURT PARK INTERSECTIONS

In the 1637 Grand Allotment of Pull On Point (Winthrop, our peninsula was divided into 17 parcels of land that were granted as homesteads to 15 prominent men of Boston with the provision that within two years each parcel was to have some sort of livable quarters established on it. A portion of them, now known as Court Park, was a part of the parcel granted originally to Valentyne HL Later Joseph Bill acquired this parcel of land and built home in the mid 1600s along what is now Johnson Avenue somewhere between Sargent Street and Bellevue Avenue This house later became the home of Joseph Tewksbury and was razed about 1840. The entire Court Park area became the estates of Judge Loring and George Emerson in 1847. In the 1890s the Loring's and Emerson's were one and the area, for a brief period became first a horseback riding trail and then a nine hole golf course. Pictures of Ladies riding side saddle among the trees and men playing golf in the open stress exist and will be the subject of a future article. The two homes featured in today's article were both built about 1900 and among the first 16 homes to appear in the general Court Park area. Picture one depicts the #185 Circuit Road current home of Richard and Marie Lawton as it appeared about 116 years ago shortly after it was built for Ervine Strout. Picture two shows the house currently.

Notice the half moon ches in the porch foundation in both pictures. Today there is also a roof over the entire porch. Picture three depicts the 103 Sargent St. home which was owned by Frank and Rosemarie DeMarco until December 1914. also about 106 years ago shortly after it was built for John R. Neal. While in picture four, the rooftop widows walk is gone but the many small dormer windows remain. The left hand portion of the porch has been enclosed while the several sets of dual posts supporting the porch roof still exist. In both cases, great care was taken to preserve the early general architectural appearance and charm of these two homes as renovations were made.

Local residents are recalling the Miracle on Ice, the U.S. Olympic hockey team's victory over the Russians that led to the U.S. gold medal, which took place 20 years ago this month. The young U.S. team was captained by Winthrop's own Mike Eruzione. Mike potted the winning goal in the third period against the Russians, who were overwhelming favorites to win the gold medal, in the semifinals. The U.S. team then went on to beat Finland in the Gold Medal game. Sports Illustrated labeled the Miracle on Ice as the most significant sports story of the 20th century.

Sheila Barth

Independent Newspapers theater and entertainment critic

Sheila Lerman Barth, 78, of Beverly, succumbed to complications from pneumonia and peacefully entered into rest on Feb. 2, surrounded by her loving family, her pride and joy.

Sheila grew up in Portland, Maine, and graduated with a degree in Education from Gorham State Teachers College. She was an educator at all levels from preschool through adult education for senior citizens. A natural nurturer, the lessons she taught her students went well beyond academia. Sheila brought learning to life with her insurmountable vibrancy and passion.

Following her career as an educator, Sheila spent decades in journalism as a reporter, feature writer, columnist, theater reviewer and critic. She was an esteemed theater critic reviewing more than 150 performances annually in recent years. As part of IRNE (Independent Reviewers of NE) as both a reviewer and committee member, she fervently supported local theater. She was also a highly respected critic for all theater from large productions in Boston to the local and regional performances. She was passionate about using her writing to keep local theater alive. Her writing was her voice to the world and it was a voice that carried far and wide. Her words had a profound effect on those about whom she wrote.

She was a true force of nature. Her personality was larger than life. She was a feisty spitfire. A fighter and advocate, a champion for whatever or whomever captured her passion. If she pursued something, nothing got in her way. Her high intellect and insatiable curiosity, coupled with her incredible listening skills made her an agile and intriguing conversationalist.

When speaking with Sheila she was always completely present. She was a selfless giver who put the needs of others before her own, always. She had an incredible ability to connect with people and to make others connect. It was arguably the strongest of her many superpowers.

Above all, her most cherished role was that of mother and “Nana.” Her pride for her family was felt by everyone she knew. She was never without hundreds of photos to share – of every accomplishment large or small that one of her children, children-in-law or grandchildren achieved. She made each and every child and grandchild feel special in their own right. She was their greatest cheerleader, providing unending support in every way. If a grandchild had six performances a weekend, she would make sure that she and her husband, Richard would attend all six! Whether it was sports, theater, dance or music, she would travel any distance to support her family– to California for a ballet performance, to Maryland for a football camp. Distance was simply no object. In the audience or the stands, there was never a question who she was there to see!

Sheila and her husband, Richard were the true pillars of the family. Their love for each other was unending, unconditional and unwavering. Throughout their 56 years of marriage, they shared an unparalleled love, respect and admiration for one another. They were each other’s strength. In life and in death, they remained completely connected. Their beautiful love story finished this chapter with the comfort that they will never grieve each other but instead enter their next chapter together.

Sheila was loved by so many people. She was the devoted wife of Richard Barth, who passed away five days after Sheila; the proud mother of Lisa Wolowacki and her husband, Bill, Elana Turchon and her husband, Dennis, Gary Barth and his wife, Michelle and Sara Kelley and her husband, Peter; adored Nana of Cameron and Jacob Wolowacki, Gisele Turchon, Jacquie and Jamie Barth, Eli and Anja Kelley; cherished daughter of the late Sara and Paul Lerman, loving sister of Ruth Cohen and the late Barbara Burd and Stuart Lerman; and the cherished aunt, cousin and friend of an infinite number of people her life touched significantly.

A funeral service was held on Sunday, Feb. 9, at Temple B’Nai Abraham in Beverly. Interment was at Newburyport Hebrew Cemetery, Salisbury.

In accordance with the traditions of the Jewish faith, and given her passion for teaching and nurturing, we ask that you please not send flowers. Instead you may make a donation to an education-based charity in her name.

In addition, to honor her memory, we ask that everyone please conduct one intentional selfless act of kindness.

Richard Barth

Aug. 31, 1938 — Feb. 7, 2020

Richard Barth, 81, of Beverly succumbed to complications from pneumonia and peacefully entered into rest, surrounded by his loving family on Feb. 7.

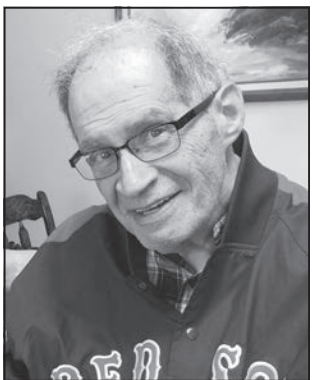

Richard was born in Haverhill and spent most of his youth in Newburyport, Lynn and Portland, Maine. He earned a bachelor’s degree in Statistics at Boston University. Richard was a gentle, caring individual with a mischievous personality who could catch you off guard with his witty sense of humor.

A natural with numbers and logic, he worked for the U.S. Census Bureau before becoming one of the first computer programmers. After 27 years with American Mutual Insurance Company, he took a role with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts spearheading a project for the DOT which catapulted the driver’s license into the modern age by introducing digital imaging, holograms and satellite kiosks throughout the state.

As successful as he was in his career, Richard was first and foremost a husband and father. He was devoted to his wife, Sheila, to whom he was married for 56 years, and supported her as her career simultaneously flourished -- no small feat with four children. He actively accompanied her to nearly 150 theater performances per year, contributing to and editing her newspaper reviews. In addition, they fervently watched and supported their grandchildren who starred in theater and dance performances. He made sure to spend focused time with each child sharing his many passions, but also embracing theirs.

An avid sports fan, Richard followed Boston professional sports faithfully – with a particular affinity for football and baseball. He loved to attend Red Sox games, especially taking his children to Fenway Park one on one. During those games he taught each child how to properly and meticulously score every at-bat. He readily volunteered to do the statistics for his children’s sports teams. He also loyally followed Newburyport High School football – a very special tradition he maintained with his father and children. His love of sports reached a pinnacle when his grandchildren began to play soccer, softball, basketball, football, baseball, rugby, field hockey and track-and-field. He took such pride and great joy watching and discussing every last play or element with each grandchild.

Music was also an important part of Richard’s life. He loved to entertain by playing piano and melodica. He took great pride in watching the tradition continue with his children and grandchildren as they pursued music in their own individual ways. Another favorite personal hobby was detailed trip-planning. Long before the days of personal GPS navigators and Waze, he meticulously mapped out vacation itineraries and routes to the specific minute and mile, the old-school way for family and friends.

Richard enjoyed gardening. He grew vibrantly colored flowers including super-sized prize-winning dahlias. His claim-to-fame were his cherry tomato plants, which grew higher than the roofline. Each year he tracked his extraordinary tomato yield, always trying to outdo his prior year performance. Richard loved sharing them with family and friends.

Richard and his wife, Sheila were the true pillars of the family. Their love for each other was unending, unconditional and unwavering. Throughout their 56 years of marriage, they shared an unparalleled love, respect and admiration for one another. They were each other’s strength. In life and in death, they remained completely connected. Their beautiful love story finished this chapter with the comfort that they will never grieve each other but instead enter their next chapter together.

Richard was loved by so many people. He was the devoted husband of Sheila F. (Lerman) Barth who predeceased him by five days; the proud father of Lisa Wolowacki and her husband, Bill, Elana Turchon and her husband, Dennis, Gary Barth and his wife, Michelle and Sara Kelley and her husband, Peter; adored Papa of Cameron and Jacob Wolowacki, Gisele Turchon, Jacquie and Jamie Barth, Eli and Anja Kelley; cherished son of the late David and Jennie Barth, and the cherished uncle, cousin and friend of an infinite number of people his life touched significantly.

A funeral service was held on Sunday, Feb. 9 at at Temple B’Nai Abraham in Beverly. Interment immediately followed the service at Newburyport Hebrew Cemetery, 10 Toll Road, Salisbury.

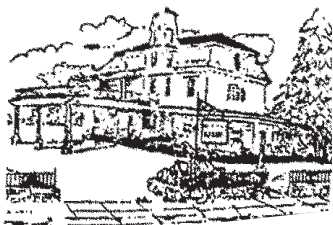

In accordance with the traditions of the Jewish faith, and given his passion for teaching and nurturing, we ask that you please not send flowers. Instead you may make a donation to an education-based charity in his name.

In addition, to honor his memory, we ask that everyone please conduct one intentional selfless act of kindness.

“A special thank-you goes out to the MWRA,” credited Flanagan. “On Saturday morning when it was quite apparent that the power wasn’t going to be on for the majority of the day, the MWRA opened up their reception center to anybody who wanted to take shelter or charge their cellphones. The MWRA was being a good neighbor.” Winthrop Police Chief Terence Delehanty deployed six police officers on the scene through Sunday night, diverting traffic coming out of Point Shirley and helping to alleviate the disruptions caused by the power failure and repair operations.

— Thank You, Winthrop —

I am not sure where to begin. We as a family are devastated and heartbroken. Aimee was private and quiet, not many knew she was fighting cancer, that's just how she was.

She didn't want to burden people with her illness. She quietly battled for 15 months, never complaining, always with a smile. She was an absolute warrior, The things she overcame were unbelievable.

Aimee was simply amazing, I cant imagine life without her. I promised her that I would take care of our 3 beautiful kids.

She was an absolute angel on earth. So sweet, caring and thoughtful to everyone she knew and met.

She loved her family so much, more than anything.

Aimee would have been amazed at the show of love and support from all of you. The people in this community are just amazing.

My kids and I are so very grateful and humbled by the amount of support we have received over the past few weeks.

It really is a testament to all you wonderful people. I can't say enough or thank you enough for all your generosity, we will never forget it.

Please know that we will always be indebted to you all, and we will pay it forward somehow.

Aimee is watching over us, and will help us and guide us through these devastating times and be by our sides throughout our lives.

Much Love and appreciation,
Tim, Josh, Lauren & Jess Boudrow

ST. JOHN’S EPISCOPAL CHURCH VALENTINE’S DAY SALE

By Marianne Salza

“Roses are red, Valentine hearts are, too. Chocolate hearts are sweet, but not as sweet as you,” deciphered Harriet Lunberg, while decoding a secret Valentine message on Feb. 8.

At St. John’s Episcopal

Church Valentine’s Day Sale, scratch ticket bouquets were featured, and parishioners purchased homemade baked goods – sweetheart cookies, red velvet cake, and bourbon balls. Little ones also carefully picked bow-tie-wearing teddy bears and stuffed dogs for their loved ones.

Ruth Ashton and Sue Wolverton were in the swing of Valentine’s Day during St. John’s annual Valentine’s Day Sale.

WHS SPORTS Roundup

TWO BIG WINS FOR GIRLS HOCKEY TEAM

The Winthrop High girls hockey team turned in what arguably were its two most complete games of the season with victories over Northeastern Hockey League (NHL) rivals Masconomet Regional and Marblehead this past week.

The twin wins improved the Lady Vikings' record to 8-5-1 overall and punched their ticket for a Journey to the Tourney, the MIAA post-season state hockey tournament.

The triumphs also set up a winner-take-all contest with Peabody last night (Wednesday) for the 2020 NHL championship. Winthrop is 7-2-0 and Peabody is 7-1-1 in the NHL entering last night's match-up. Peabody defeated the Lady Vikings rather handily, 7-1, in their first meeting this season, but buoyed by a combination of their newfound stinginess on defense and their home ice of Larsen Rink, coach Anthony Martucci and his crew were seeking to turn the tables on the Lady Tanners in the final NHL game of the season for both teams.

"This was a huge week for our program with these two monster wins," said Martucci whose Winthrop teams have qualified for the journey every year for the 11 seasons that he and assistant coach Chris Palmer have been at the helm of the girls' program.

The contest with Masco last Wednesday at Larsen was decided by a power play goal by sophomore Mia Martucci, who was assisted by Abby Holmes.

"The offense was great, despite only putting one goal past their goalie, Molly Elmore, who is a D-1 commit to Sacred Heart," said Martucci. "The play of all four lines was incredible. Mia Norris, Hannah Parker, Olivia Driscoll, Syd Mignosa, Jenna Lindinger, Lily Tallent, Julia Holmes, Emma Holmes, Mia Martucci, Sami DiMento, Jenna Dorr, and Maddy Deeran all contributed to the huge conference win."

However, Martucci had special praise for his defense, which put a goose egg up on the scoreboard.

"Summer Tallent was unreal in this game for us in goal," added Martucci. "At least seven of her 24 saves were of the '10 bell' variety. It was great to see her get her first shutout of the year."

"Defensively, Elle English was phenomenal," Martucci continued. "She led the group of Abby Holmes, Fallon Hurley, Taya Schlichting, Casey Petersen, and Amelia Spencer. All of them played extremely well. Taya Schlichting played her best game of the season and Abby Holmes has really stepped up."

Martucci also lauded the role that back-up goalie Ryan Parker played in the victory. "Ryan Parker, who has been an invaluable back-up senior goalie for us, was in charge of the defensive door and her flawless line changes were also instrumental to this win," Martucci noted.

"All in all, this was a great game for us, probably the most complete game we played this year," added

Martucci. "All facets of the game were awesome."

This past Saturday the Lady Vikings hosted their traditional NHL archrival, Marblehead, and skated to a 2-0 triumph.

Winthrop's first goal came on a shorthanded situation in which Emma Holmes made an amazing individual effort, putting the puck past the Marblehead goalie despite being hauled to the ice by a Marblehead defender after Emma had skated in on a partial breakaway.

"It was just an awesome goal, by an awesome player," said Martucci. "Emma leads our team in points and she has been huge all year."

Similar to the Masco victory, the Lady Viking triumph was a nail-biter right to the end, with the outcome not being decided until the game's closing seconds when Julia Holmes lit the lamp with an empty-net goal after Marblehead had pulled its goalie in favor of a sixth skater.

"It was another excellent game. We just played as solidly and as smart as we have all year," Martucci noted. "We were very disciplined and it paid off."

WHS netminder Tallent turned aside 24 enemy shots to record her second shutout in a row. "Summer Tallent was unreal again," Martucci said. "She is an amazing goalie and when she is dialed in, she becomes pretty much unbeatable."

"Our defense was rock-solid and our forwards played with heart and discipline," continued Martucci. "Our goalie was lights out and it translated into a big win that gives us a chance to win the conference if we can beat Peabody."

Martucci also singled out for praise the performance of his 2020 captains.

"I just can't say enough about the leadership of our four captains," Martucci added. "At times this season we were on the verge of struggling to achieve the certain goals that we set at the opening of every season. But the captains would not allow that to happen. OD (Olivia Driscoll), MIG (Syd Mignosa), SNUKA (Mia Martucci), and SUM (Summer Tallent) have really dug in and led this team with their play and their hearts. I am so thankful for all their hard work and dedication."

After last night's encounter with Peabody, the Lady Vikings are scheduled to wrap up their regular season with contests against two non-league foes at Larsen. They will host Billerica on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 as part of a double-header with the WHS boys (who will skate against Danvers at 3:30 p.m.) and will entertain Wakefield next Wednesday evening at 6 p.m.

Martucci and his crew then will await word of their seeding and first round opponent in the MIAA Division 1 girls state hockey tournament.

WINTHROP HIGH GIRLS BASKETBALL TRIUMPH OVER SALEM HIGH, 52—34

Maura Dorr exploded for 30 points—12 of them in a decisive second period—to lead the Vikings to a 52-34 win over Salem Friday night, Feb. 7, at Winthrop High.

Dorr, a junior, was pretty much unstoppable whenever she decided to take control of the game. The Vikings (10-6 overall, 6-5 Northeastern South) found themselves in a surprisingly close match with the Witches, who entered the game with only a single win overall (1-16) and winless (0-13) in the conference. The Vikings led 6-4 after one quarter and found themselves tied at 10 early in the second. Then Dorr and her mates went to work, running off 15 straight points to jump out to a 25-10 lead before settling in at half-time leading 27-17.

But Salem kept scraping, continuing a 15-4 run of their own that pulled them within four, 29-25 midway through the third quarter. But Caroline Earl nailed a corner shot to stretch the Winthrop lead to six, 31-25, and the Vikings got back in stride. A Maura Dorr layup just before the buzzer stretched the Vikings lead to nine, 36-27 after three. The fourth quarter was More Dorr as she added 10 more points on her way to 30, and the Vikings defense stymied the hustling Witches en route to the 52-34 win.

Seniors Sara Fucillo and Alana Grillo were honored during Senior Night festivities before the game. Dorr's supporting cast on the scoresheet were Maddie Stiglets (10 points), Caroline Earl and Carolyn Kinsella with 5 each, Julia Marccocio with four and Paulina Bell, who hit a pair of free throws in the first period. The Vikings travel to Saugus Monday, Feb. 10, for a 6:30 p.m. game; host Swampscott Thursday, Feb. 13 at 6:30 p.m.; travel to Ipswich on President's Day at 1 p.m.; then finish the season with a 2 p.m. game Feb. 20, at Lynn Classical.

NO SAVING IT: Winthrop's Caroline Earl (left) and Maddie Stiglets (#10) and Salem's Cassidy O'Leary (#33) try but cannot keep a ball in play.

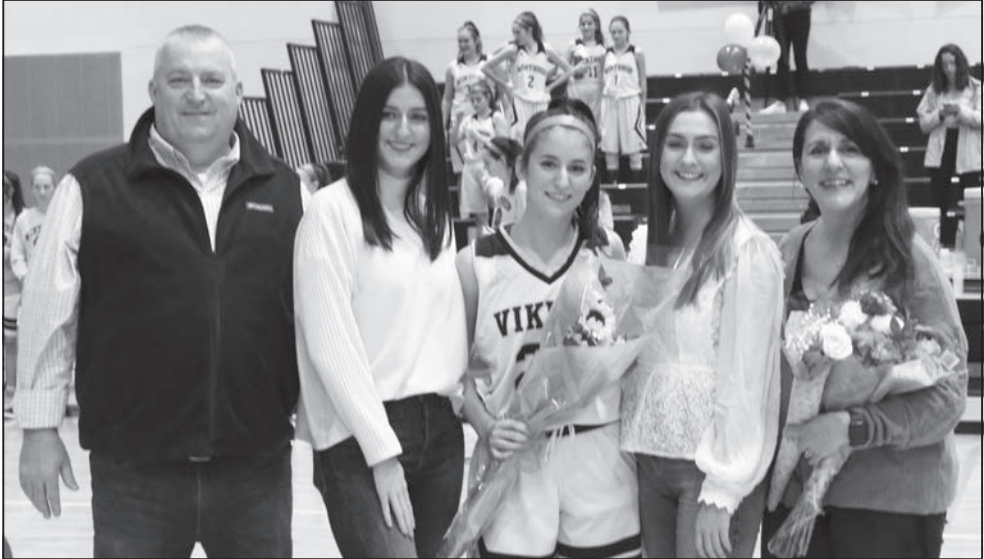

ESCAPE ROUTE: Maddie Stiglets gets away from Salem's Anna Cantone (#13) as teammates Julia Marccocio (1#3) and Carolyn Kinsella stand by.

BASELINE SAVE: Maura Dorr dives in front of Salem's Cassidy O'Leary to keep a loose ball in play.

COMING THROUGH: Carolyn Kinsella fights her way past Salem's Amaya McConney.

at a perfectly level 7-7.3, exactly the .500 mark that is required for the Vikings to qualify for the MIAA post-season state hockey tournament.

The Vikings dropped a 4-1 decision to Marblehead, the top team in the North Division of the Northeastern, this past Saturday at the Salem State arena. Marblehead took control early in the contest, scoring just seconds after the opening face-off, and built a 3-0 lead into the second period before Viking JD Parker lit the lamp to make it 3-1.

However, Marblehead put the icing on the cake with a goal in the final 15 minutes to skate away with the win.

Coach Dale Dunbar, assistant coach Mike Norris, and their crew of Vikings now must capture at least three points in their final three games in order to maintain their .500 record and punch their ticket for a Journey to the Tourney.

Winthrop was scheduled to play at Peabody last night (Wednesday) and will host Danvers Saturday afternoon at Larsen at 3:30 immediately following the WHS girls' game, which faces off at 1:30 p.m.

They will wrap up their regular season next Wednesday when the Vikings play at Saugus.

In the 4 x 400 relay, the girls ran their best time of the season with a clocking of 4:27.18. Fiona MacPhail got Winthrop off to a great start with a split of 66.5. Nora McCarey took the baton and sped to a leg of 69.8. Bea Holzbach then took over and sprinted to a split of 65.53. Anchor Soneida Dahlqvist finished with a strong final leg, running a 64.8, to place the Lady Vikings in sixth position to earn a medal among the field of 29 entrants in the 4 x 400 in Division 5 race.

The girls 4 x 200 relayers also shone, just missing the medal podium with an eighth-place ranking among the field of 42 teams from across the state.

MacPhail once again was the lead-off girl, racing to a split of 29.03. Clare Nargi took the baton and sped off to her split of 28.69. Sophia Munson ran a fast split of 28.96 and Dahlqvist finished the race with a split of 30.4 for a final clocking of 1:57.1.

WHS GIRLS HOST SWAMPSCOTT TONIGHT

The Winthrop High girls basketball team will play its last home game of the season when the Lady Vikings entertain Northeastern Conference rival Swampscott this evening (Thursday). The opening tip is set for 6:30.

The WHS boys, who will trek to Swampscott this evening, will host Lynn Classical next Thursday at 2 p.m.in their home finale.

IN A CLASS OF HER OWN

Dempsey helps bring women’s hockey to new heights

By Cary Shuman

There is no question who the star among stars in women’s professional hockey is. For openers, there was a life-size cut-out of Winthrop’s Jillian Dempsey welcoming fans to the Warrior Ice Arena in Brighton for the National Women’s Hockey League Skills Competition and All-Star Game this past weekend.

Dempsey served as a captain of one of the teams in Sunday’s All-Star Game and she received the loudest ovations from the sell-out crowds at both events. She signed many autographs and posed for countless selfies, more than happy to promote the game of women’s hockey in America.

And it all happened not far from the Harvard campus where Jillian Dempsey reigned over Ivy League hockey and received a degree from the nation’s most prestigious college.

Dempsey added to her professional hockey stardom by winning the NWHL Shooting Skills Competition in a record-breaking (and awe-inspiring) 9.69 seconds. It may have been the best display of accuracy on a big stage by a Winthrop skater since Mike Eruzione scored his historic goal against the Soviet Union in the 1980 Olympics.

Dempsey also netted the game-sealing goal in Team Dempsey’s 5-2 win over Team Packer [led by Madison Packer of the Riveters] in the NWHL All-Star Game. It was the perfect finish for Dempsey to an exciting weekend of women’s hockey played at its highest level.

Dempsey was back in the classroom Monday at the Cumming Elementary School where she is a fifth grade teacher. The 5-foot-4-inch captain of the Boston Pride reflected on her scintillating performance – hitting four separate targets on the hockey net in under 10 seconds - that has been viewed by thousands of hockey fans online.

“Accuracy shooting is something I try to practice continually, picking the corners and trying to work on improving my shot,” said Dempsey. “It’s something I do at every practice. It was obviously very exciting to be able to achieve that.”

Dempsey also described it as “a thrill” to score a goal in the All-Star Game. “To get that goal in front of the Boston crowd and help us win the game was something special,” she said.

Dempsey has represented the United States in international tournaments, led Harvard in the Women’s Beanpot and the NCAAs, and been a finalist for the Patty Kazmaier Award as the country’s top collegian. So where does she rank her experience in the NWHL All-Star events, played in her own backyard of Boston?

“It’s definitely up there – I’ve been very fortunate to have had an amazing career playing this game that I love and it’s taken me so many different places,” replied Dempsey. “It’s given me so many opportunities, so to be able to be an All-Star and captain the team in my city of Boston is definitely something that is high on that list.”

Jillian’s father, Jack, brother, Connor, and sister, Meaghan were in the audience for the All-Star festivities. “My mother and my grandmother were watching on the broadcast,” she related.

Dempsey will now set her sights on leading the Pride to the Isobel Cup – the NWHL version of the Stanley Cup. She is the league’s leading scorer for the Pride who are in first place in the standings.

“That’s the ultimate goal this season, to bring the Isobel Cup back to Boston,” said Dempsey.

CHELSEA STREET BRIDGE MEETING BRINGS FEDERAL DELEGATION, COAST GUARD TOGETHER

CHELSEA - On Saturday, Jan. 25, GreenRoots organized a meeting regarding the Chelsea Street Bridge. Residents of Chelsea and East Boston gathered with representatives from MassPort, the Coast Guard and local, state and federal-level politicians to push for action around the frequent and disruptive closures of the Chelsea Street Bridge. The was the first event about the Bridge, led by community rather than by state officials such as MassDOT.

MassDOT was invited to attend, but declined the invitation.

Community members from both sides of the Creek gave testimonies that highlighted the impact of the bridge on people’s everyday lives. Commuters recounted their experiences waiting in traffic for over an hour, because the bridge went up during rush hour and backed up the hundreds of vehicles trying to cross the bridge at that time.

Parents and teachers shared their concerns about children who were stranded at school after hours when their parents got stuck in traffic at the bridge. City Manager Tom Ambrosino and City Councillors Judith Garcia and Enio Lopez spoke about the impact of the bridge on Chelsea as a whole and pleaded with federal representatives to take action to address the situation.

Residents also presented ideas for solutions, including improving communication with commuters, and imposing blackout periods on bridge lifts during rush hours. The overall message was that community members face constant stress and uncertainty about the bridge, and need a guarantee that they can travel freely for some window of time during the morning and the evening commutes. Although the decision makers in the room did not clearly state support for blackout periods during rush hour, staffers for the federal elected officials expressed a willingness to convene a meeting with the community and the politicians themselves in order to plan next steps.

If you have questions about the campaign to alleviate some of the impacts of the Chelsea Street Bridge on the community, contact GreenRoots at (617)466-3076 or mariabelenp@greenrootschelsea.org.

CITY OFFICIALS REACT QUICKLY TO WATER BREAK

CHELSEA - City Manager Thomas Ambrosino said the broken underground pipe that caused torrents of water to roll down Sagamore Avenue Saturday morning has been fully repaired.

“Everything is back to normal,” said Ambrosino. “Our contractors were on the scene and the pipe was fixed by the end of the day.”

Sagamore Avenue residents awoke Saturday to see their street inundated with water gushing from the broken pipe located between Cheever and Murray streets. Chelsea Police and Chelsea Fire personnel arrived on the scene, with police officers setting up a roadblock to allow emergency crews unimpeded access to dig up the street and repair the pipe.

City Engineer Louis Mammolette explained the cause of the break during an interview on scene.

“The corrosivity of the clay soil underneath Sagamore Avenue is so aggressive that it attacks the ductile iron material that the pipe is constructed of,” said Mammolette. “It actually eats holes in to the underside of the pipe. Once those holes are thin enough that the pressure of the water main inside can push through, it creates a water main break.”

Mammolette said the city manager was notified immediately of the emergency situation.

DPW Commissioner Fidel Maltez and DPW workers combined their efforts with Tufts Construction, the city’s emergency repair contractor, to repair the broken pipe.

Carlos Hernandez, a co-owner of the home at 59 Sagamore Ave., said his basement took on 17 inches of water in the immediate aftermath of the incident.

“I was sleeping this morning when my brother [Edgar, who is a co-owner of the house] called me to tell me about it,” said Hernandez. “When I woke up, I saw a river outside on the street.”

District 1 Councillor Todd Taylor said he rushed back from Plymouth to be on scene and assist his neighbors.

“I was in Plymouth and my phone starting blowing up with messages,” said Taylor. “I got texts from Chief [Brian] Kyes that there was a water main break on Sagamore Avenue. As soon I could, I got out of there and rushed back to Chelsea to see what was going on myself.

“Thank God it wasn’t as serious as they first thought it was – that’s a good thing,” added Taylor.

The first-year councillor said he will be bringing the repair of the city’s sewer and water systems in to a public forum for discussion.

“We’re going to have to invest money in to fixing this, so we don’t have to a lot pay more later on,” said Taylor. “We have to be pro-active and solve problems where we see them.”

School Committee member Rosemarie Carlisle, a longtime resident of Sagamore Avenue, described the scene as “water, water everywhere.”

“I just want to say thank you to the Chelsea Police and the Chelsea Fire Department who helped some residents on Sagamore Avenue – they were awesome,” said Carlisle.

HVNA VOTE IN FAVOR OF CONDO BUILDING

EAST BOSTON - Members of the Harbor View Neighborhood Association (HVNA) voted 22-21 in favor of a 14-unit condo building on Moore Street. The White and Gaeta families occupy three adjoining homes from 116 to 120 Moore St. Originally the White and Gaeta families received approval from the city to build a four-family home an empty side yard that is part of 120 Moore St. The side yard was big enough to be subdivided and developed into the proposed four-family home. However, this plan proved to be less cost-effective than just demolishing the three existing homes, combining all the lots and constructing one 14-unit condo building with 15 parking spaces. A few months back the Whites and Gaetas went back to the drawing board to come up with a new plan. When they first pitched the new plan to HVNA members they sought 18 units, then 17 and have now settled at 14 units with the 15 off-street parking spaces after several HVNA and abutters meetings. The Whites and Gaetas, two longtime and well-known Eastie families, have maintained that they are looking to expand their living space to accommodate their growing families. The two families, who have been involved in myriad community-based youth programs for decades, want to be able to remain in Eastie and said the development of their properties on Moore Street will allow them to accomplish this goal. Attorney for the families, Richard Lynds, said his clients will need zoning relief for Use, Rear Yard, Floor Area Ratio, Height and Parking.

EUTAW ST. FIRE LEAVES 15 DISPLACED

EAST BOSTON - The Mayor’s Office of Neighborhood Services and the American Red Cross have found temporary housing for the 15 people displaced by a two-alarm fire that broke out on Eutaw Street. Just before 9:30 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 29, Boston Fire responded to a fire reported at 35 Eutaw St. When firefighters arrived they observed smoke and fire coming from the third floor of the three-and-half story, multi-family home. Seeing that the home was attached to homes next door the fire department immediately ordered a second alarm in order to contain the blaze. It took a little over 30 minutes for crews to knock the fire down. Chief Joseph Finn said there were no injuries among firefighters that battled the fire or residents that lived in the home. He estimated the damages to be about $300,000 and Boston Fire investigators are still investigating the cause of the fire.

COUNCILORS VOTE AGAINST ACCPTING DONATIONS

EVERETT - At the City Council meeting on Monday, Jan. 27, Councilors Gerly Adrien and Michael McLaughlin voted against accepting a donation from the ExxonMobil Corporation destined for the Fire Department after the councilwoman made it known that the oil giant is currently being sued for environmental damages to the City of Everett.

The donation, in the amount of $2,500, was destined to the Everett Fire Department’s Safe Fire Donation Account, a fund used to pay for advanced safety training for members. According to Fire Chief Anthony Carli, ExxonMobil has regularly donated small amounts to this fund over the past decade to mitigate the environmental impact of its presence in the community.

According to its website, the Conservation Law Foundation (CLF) alleges that the massive ExxonMobil petroleum storage terminal in Everett is endangering Everett citizens and creating a public health crisis. CLF claims that ExxonMobil is violating the Clean Water Act of 1972 by “regularly releasing dangerous levels of toxic chemicals and other pollutants into the Mystic and Island End Rivers.”

CLF specifically cites the presence of Polycyclic Aromatic Hydrocarbons, or PAHs, chemicals found in the pollutants from petroleum products. Once they enter the environment, PAHs can be inhaled or absorbed through the skin, causing skin inflammation, gastrointestinal issues and breathing difficulties. Long-term exposure can lead to cancer, organ damage and DNA breakdown, among other serious condi-

SENATOR MARKEY VISITS EVERETT

Sen. Ed Markey and Councilor at-Large Gerly Adrien joined families in Everett on Feb. 1, at the Haitian Church on Revere Beach Parkway on Sunday. Sen. Markey is preparing to run for re-election this year, and is facing Congressman Joe Kennedy in the Democratic Primary. Sen. Markey talked with constituents at the event and addressed the large congregation.

In March of 2019, CLF filed a lawsuit against ExxonMobil over its Everett petroleum terminal. U.S. District Court Judge Mark Wolf ruled that the suit should advance in Boston federal court. The oil company is currently being sued on nine counts, including failure to protect the site from flooding that could leach toxic chemicals into nearby waterways.

Councilor Adrien said she would vote to reject the donation from the Texas-based company, worrying that accepting it would be a conflict of interests for the city.

“We need to first understand what is happening with the lawsuit, and how [Exxon] is harming the residents of our city,” she said.

Councilor McLaughlin made a motion to move the matter to committee where it could be discussed in greater detail.

“I was not privy to this and it does raise major concerns,” he said. “We should not be voting for donations from organizations that are harming our people.”

Councilor Anthony DiPiero disagreed.

“We are not a court. We don’t decide on lawsuits,” he said. “If they want to donate money to our public safety resources, I will not say ‘no.’”

“Why are we bringing up lawsuits?” said Council President Rosa DiFlorio. “Whoever is suing Exxon, it doesn’t matter.”

Councilor Wayne Matewsky said that $2,500 was a pittance for the $341 billion company.

“I think Exxon should have to come here and explain this lawsuit,” he said. “Their outreach to the community is not what it should be. They throw donations around like manhole covers.”

Councilor Stephanie Martins said she supported discussing the matter in committee, but that she would vote to accept the donation.

“I will vote to accept anything going to public safety,” she said.

Councilor Fred Capone said he understood his colleague’s concerns, but said that accepting the donation was not the same as condoning the company’s actions.

“I agree that their practices are dangerous and harmful,” he said. “We take the money to offset some of that.”

Councilor Peter Napolitano concurred.

“Money going into the City is still money going into the City,” he said, but he allowed that Council should be aware of any ongoing lawsuits.

The body ultimately voted to accept the donation with the exception of Councilors Adrien and McLaughlin.

After the vote, Councilor Adrien expressed shock that her colleagues had not known of the lawsuit until that meeting and dis-chosen to accept the donation regardless.

“Not one City Councilor, people who have been on this Council for years, knew about this,” she said in a letter. “With the exception of Councilor McLaughlin, I do not think they understand they are supposed to protect Everett residents instead of putting them in harm’s way.”

2020 SENIOR WATER AND SEWER DISCOUNT

REVERE - Mayor Brian M. Arrigo has announced that the City will be accepting applications for the Water and Sewer Senior Discount Program beginning Monday, February 17, in the Water/Sewer Billing office.

Eligible property owner/occupants who use 30,000 gallons of water or less over a 12 month period will earn a 30 per cent discount in the form of a credit toward their next billing period. Those who use between 30,001 and 70,000 gallons earn a 20 per cent discount, and those who use over 70,000 gallons earn a 10 per cent discount.

“Our objective is both to help seniors with their water bills, but also to help people realize the real benefits of water conservation,” said Mayor Arrigo. “There are many simple ways that people can use less water in their everyday routines.” Most common among these are simple steps such turning off water faucets while brushing one’s teeth or collecting rainwater to water gardens and flower beds.

“People should also make sure they are not wasting water through undetected leaks,” said the Mayor. “Residents who suspect that their water bills are higher than they would expect should contact the City’s water department to help determine whether there might be a leak issue.”

The discount will be applied to one billing period per year. To qualify for the Senior Discount program, an applicant must be the owner of record and occupy the property in question. The applicant or spouse must turn 65 during the calendar year to which the discount will be applied. An applicant will be required to provide a valid Massachusetts drivers’ license or other official form of identification that includes the date of birth and property address, or additional documentation.

Applications will be available at the Water Department or can be obtained online through the City’s website www.revere.org. Applications must be completed and returned no later than June 30 of the calendar year the discount is in effect.

The discount percentage is determined based upon the total consumption at the applicant property during the previous year. That percentage amount is then multiplied by the current Water/Sewer rate and produces a credit toward the applicant’s subsequent water bill.

Boston federal lawmakers looking for a quieter Logan

By John Lynds

A group of federal lawmakers recently penned a letter to the CEOs of Southwest, Delta and American Airlines urges the three air carriers to begin efforts to drastically reduce airplane noise at Logan International Airport.

The problem stems from the relatively new satellite-based navigation system airlines use to try to increase fuel efficiency. The program was implemented around the country by the FAA and major carriers in 2013 to create more fuel-efficient flight paths. The unexpected consequence has been a spike in noise complaints from communities surrounding Logan.

“We write in regards to ongoing concerns regarding elevated noise levels created by NextGen flight paths in Massachusetts communities and communities throughout the country,” wrote Sens. Elizabeth Warren, Ed Markey and Reps. Stephen Lynch, Joseph Kennedy, Katherine Clark and Ayanna Pressley. “Given your company’s operations at Boston Logan International Airport, we ask that your airline take measures to reduce airplane-related noise problems that have affected Massachusetts residents and others affected by airplane noise issues across the country, including communities in and around San Diego, Seattle, Los Angeles, and Washington, D.C.”

Logan noise has long been a bone of contention between Winthrop residents and Massport dating back to the late 1960s. In 2016 Massport and the FAA signed an agreement to begin reducing noise levels at Logan. JetBlue was one of the first airlines that voluntarily agreed to try and fly more quietly by retrofitting their fleet with noise-reducing vortex generators.

The group of lawmakers are asking American, Delta and Southwest to take similar measures.

“Since the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) introduced the NextGen satellite-based navigation system in 2013, which was meant to create more fuel-efficient flight paths, our offices have heard from numerous communities in Massachusetts that have experienced increased airplane noise,” the letter continues. “The Massachusetts Port Authority (Massport), which operates Boston Logan International Airport, and several municipalities have seen a sharp spike in airplane noise complaints since implementing NextGen. For example, in the first two months of 2019, Massport received nearly 18,000 total noise complaints from Greater Boston and as of September 2019 the City of Medford, alone received nearly 25,000 noise complaints for the year.”

The group of lawmakers added that the Air Traffic Noise and Pollution Expert Consensus Act of 2019 was introduced to require the FAA to work with the National Academy of Sciences to study the effects of air traffic noise and pollution on human health.

“This bill would seek to determine causes of increased noise reports and health impacts of increased jet noise and to make recommendations on how to address the problem,” the lawmakers wrote. “The Cleaner, Quieter Airplanes Act has also been introduced to make investments in the technology needed to cut airplane noise and carbon pollution from commercial airlines in half. As Congress works to address airplane noise, and address the noise pollution that has resulted from FAA’s new navigation system, your company can also take steps to alleviate concerns of communities affected by increased airplane noise.”

The lawmakers point to JetBlue and several other airlines with operations at Logan that have voluntarily taken measures to address airplane-related noise problems affecting nearby communities.

“Notably, in October 2018, following a letter we sent with other members of the Massachusetts congressional delegation JetBlue announced plans to retrofit their entire Airbus fleet with noise-reducing vortex generators,” the lawmakers wrote. “In our letter to JetBlue, we noted that airlines, including Air France, British Airways, Lufthansa, and United Airlines, voluntarily retrofitted or developed plans to retrofit certain aircrafts with generators that would reduce airplane noise. We ask that your company implement similar measures. We ask that your company take steps to reduce airplane noise from your fleet and provide information about how your company has worked to mitigate noise-related complaints associated with your airplanes by February 28, 2020.”
