ORDER RELAXING MASK MANDATE IN STATE COURTHOUSES

The Supreme Judicial Court (SJC) issued a new order on Monday regarding access to Massachusetts state courthouses, which relaxes the requirements with respect to the wearing of masks, effective March 23, 2022.

The order continues to encourage the wearing of masks inside courthouses to protect against the transmission of COVID-19, especially by those who are at increased risk for severe disease or are not up to date on COVID-19 vaccinations. Masks are no longer required, however, except under certain identified circumstances.

The order also continues to prohibit entry into courthouses by persons who have tested positive for COVID-19 within the previous 5 days, have symptoms consistent with COVID-19, are not up to date on vaccinations and have been in close contact with someone with COVID-19 within the last 5 days, are awaiting test results after experiencing symptoms, or should be in isolation or quarantine.

CELTICS, MASS. LOTTO HONOR WINTHROP'S BRENDAN EDWARD AS 'HERO AMONG US'

Massachusetts State Lottery and the Boston Celtics Honored Winthrop resident Brendan Edward as a Hero Among Us for his creative and playful fundraising efforts for children in need during the holiday season at the Boston Celtics' game against the Golden State Warriors on December 17th, 2021. For the past five years, Brendan Edward, an Air Force medic and firefighter with the Natick Fire Department, has raised funds for Boston Children's Hospital. In 2021, Edward took his fundraising efforts to the streets, dressing an elf and starting playful pillow fights with Boston locals and tourists alike in an effort to incentivize them to donate to the hospital.

Since its establishment in 1997 by the Boston Celtics, The Heroes Among Us program has recognized outstanding individuals who have made exceptional and lasting contributions to their communities. The award is presented at every Celtics home game and pays tribute to the heroic achievements of these outstanding citizens.

Town needs $60M to replace aging water system

By Laura Plummer

At its meeting on March 15, the Winthrop Town Council viewed the results of an audit of the town's water system conducted last year.

The Town Manager's Office hired a consultant last spring to find out why Winthrop's water rates were on the high end for the Commonwealth, and to possibly reduce user rates. Environmental Partners sent its report to DPW Director Steven Calla on Dec. 17, 2021.

Ryan Trahan, the Senior Principal at Environmental Partners, presented the 57-page Town of Winthrop Water Audit Report to the Council.

According to the report, it will cost roughly $60M to replace old pipes and upgrade other aspects of the town's water system. This number is likely to climb with inflation over the several years it would take to complete the upgrades.

A graphic revealed that Winthrop loses an estimated $1.1M annually in non-revenue water. Another image showed Winthrop in the bottom 50 percent of U.S. water systems in general and in the bottom 10 percent in terms of "real losses." As a result, customers are paying an average of $232 extra per year.

To minimize losses, Environmental Partners recommended that Winthrop expand its pool of leak detection contractors and technologies, and research water main replacement options in coastal areas.

Environmental Partners commented that it could not confirm some basic information about Winthrop's

WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH Celebrating with profiles on local women

State Sen. Lydia Edwards

By John Lynds

She became the first woman of color to be elected to the District 1 City Council seat when she won in 2017 and recently became the first woman elected to the First Suffolk & Middlesex State Senate seat, a seat historically occupied by Italian American men.

Senator Lydia Edwards has found herself at the epicenter of a political movement that has seen more and more women and women of color being elected to political office in recent years.

"You don't run on being 'the first' you run for being effective, and I'm just very happy that we are at a point where we elect people based on their qualifications and their ability to serve people," said Edwards. "I am honored. I'm honored to break through the glass ceiling and hopefully make sure that even more people of all different backgrounds have opportunities to serve."

With the recent wave of women elected to powerful political offices like Mayor Michelle Wu, Senator Elizabeth Warren and Congresswoman Ayanna Pressley, Edwards argues politics and a woman's place in politics has become more reflective of the populations they serve.

DCR REMOVES PARKING METER SIGNAGE FROM REVERE BEACH

The Department of Conservation & Recreation (DCR) is removing all parking meter signage from Revere Beach, as a result of a law passed through the leadership of State Representatives Jeffrey Rosario Turco and Jessica Giannino. Last summer, parking meters were installed on Revere Beach in an effort to raise state revenues. The people of Revere organized and resisted the idea of paid parking on America's first public beach. Rallies were held for several weeks on Revere Beach demonstrating opposition to the meters. Representative Turco and Representative Giannino quickly drafted legislation which prohibited DCR from placing metered parking on any DCR roadway without explicit local approval. Although Governor Baker vetoed this legislation, Turco, Giannino and their colleagues held tough in the face of adversity and the Governor's veto was overridden thus securing free parking for Revere Beach. With the signs coming down today, the battle against paid parking on the beach has now reached its official conclusion.

"It is only right that parking should be free on Revere Beach, the first public beach in the United States of America," said Representative Jeffrey Rosario Turco (D-Winthrop). "This is our beach and it is now open for everybody, regardless of their economic status. The signage coming down marks the end of a long, difficult, but crucial fight to right an obvious wrong. Today is a great day for Revere."

"I am thrilled that signs are being removed and Revere Beach will once again be free to park at," said Representative Jessica Giannino (D-Revere). "Revere Beach is America's first public beach. It is so important that it remains Winthrop — Chief Terence Delehanty has announced that the Winthrop Police Department will be participating in the Autism Police Patch Program throughout the month of April.

The custom-designed patches will help to increase autism awareness throughout the community and raise money to be donated to the Doug Flutie Jr. Foundation for Autism. The organization provides financial assistance for families caring for a loved one with autism and educates the public about autism spectrum disorder (ASD).

"We are proud to work with the Flutie Foundation and increase awareness in our community" said Chief Terence Delehanty.

Beginning April 1, those interested can send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Winthrop Police Department with a check made out to the Flutie Foundation or can purchase patches by cash or check in the lobby of police station. Each patch cost 1 $10 donation.

"We're thrilled to be supporting the Flutie Foundation and the work they do in support of families and individuals with ASD" said Chief Terence Delehanty.

We will also be selling t-shirts. Each shirt cost 1 $15 donation. The Winthrop Fire Department and Winthrop Police Department will also be hosting a hockey game featuring Winthrop All Stars facing off against the Winthrop Police/Fire team on Saturday, April 16 at 6:30PM. Shirts and patches will be sold on the day of the game.

the population in Boston are women. So the fact that at least half of the City Councilors are women makes sense. It makes sense that our delegation in the House and Senate is including more and more women all the time. It makes sense that more women are running. I feel that there's a real shift. More women are saying, more mothers are saying, more single mothers are saying "I want in and I'm running" and I'm really happy about that. I think we should really be celebrating that because a lot of women are putting their hat in the ring and it's great. This is not to say that men don't have a place in politics—it's just time for women to also be at the table."

Growing up in the small rural town of Gwinn in the upper peninsula of Michigan, Edwards said there were plenty of strong women in her life that shaped the person she eventually became.

The first of these women, of course, is Edwards's mother Bridgett.

"I don't know too many people who grew up with a single parent who aren't inspired by them," said Edwards. "My mother joined the military in the 1970s and to see my mother get up every day to put on military fatigues, put on combat boots and go to the base and then to also see her come home make dinner for me and my sister, Erica, help us pick out our prom dresses and help us with our school work gave me such a wonderful, well rounded view of power, grace and what it meant to be a real woman. That's why I'm so inspired by my mom."

And when her mom was busy serving in the Air Force there were other women in the small town of Gwinn that would step in to ensure Edwards's success.

State Senator Lydia Edwards.

"I was blessed by having incredible public school teachers, who were sometimes single moms themselves, but they were mentors to me and helpful," said Edwards. "I would give a shout out to Mrs. Deshambo who was always there for us when my mother couldn't take the time off from work. This is a woman who got a substitute teacher for our history class, drove me nine hours to Detroit herself, got the hotel room herself and made sure I was there in person and available for my college scholarship interview—a scholarship that I was eventually awarded."

There were also her women college professors that helped shape and inspire Edwards once she got to New York City.

"Dr. Ellen Silver gave me the advice that people don't have to like you but they should respect you," said Edwards. "That changed my whole life and changed my whole perspective. I ended up becoming my class president. I ended up becoming the number one tutor in chemistry and math for a lot of the girls in my college. I ended up using what I was good at to help keep other women in college. At the beginning I didn't think they liked me because they were from New York and I was sort of a tomboy from the Midwest. I told Dr. Silver that I felt the girls didn't like me and it was hurtful. That's when she told me, "Honey, they don't have to like you but they have to respect you. In the end they respected me. I think that advice and that experience taught me that being liked is one thing but being respected is everything. So you use your talents to do what you can for people and that's what I've tried to do ever since."

In the end, Edwards said she hopes her role as a strong woman holding political office will inspire others to do the same.

"One of the greatest joys I get in this job is when moms or dads intentionally bring their little girls to me and say, "This is your State Senator" and to see a little girls' eyes light up brings a special honor because parents really want them to see what they can be," said Edwards. "I didn't have a Sen. Edwards or a local woman politician to look up to growing up. So I remind myself everyday that there might be a little girl watching and that makes me incredibly proud and honored."

water system due to lack of records. The auditor could not verify the length of mains, the number of service connections, or the duration of services. The DPW provided the consultants with a system map from 1991, but it was unclear if there had been updates since then.

As a result, Environmental Partners suggested that Winthrop modernize and digitize all of its water system records. This would improve record security, ease of access and sharing, analysis and loss detection, and response times to failures. The town can realize this transition in stages.

Councilors reacted with concerned questions, though they didn't propose any next steps at the meeting. Councilor Rob DeMarco remarked that the town's water rates were already high and asked if relief to residents would be possible. During the public comment period, one resident commented on a statistic from MWRA regarding high levels of chloroform in the town water.

ART 949 - LARGE BOSTON HARBOR LIGHTHOUSES

Last week, inspired by postcard collections of Sandra Bradley and Mary Ellen Moran, Then & Now discussed four smaller lighthouse/beacons in and about the harbor and will now address four larger ones in our general area. In the first picture, Graves Light is shown where it stands on a foreboding group of “black and frowning” ledges northeast of the Brewster islands. Legend says that it was named after Thomas Graves, a Vice Admiral of Governor John Winthrop’s fleet, who referred to this reef in 1634 as the most dangerous spot in the harbor. Built in 1903-5, Graves Light long held the New England record for power with a 380,000 candle power beam. Along with most light houses of today it is now fully automated and no longer has a resident lighthouse keeper. In the second picture Minot Ledge Light, noted to be the most dangerous beacon in America, is depicted. Located about five miles south of the Brewster Islands, it stands 114 feet in height. When first built in 1847, after extensive review of several designs, it was mounted on a tall open structure of ten round iron pilings to permit the sea to pass through underneath the enclosed portion of the lighthouse during raging storms. This tower then proceeded to succumb to the sea in 1851 as the result of a severe storm. In 1855, the current structure was designed and extensive new footings installed. Construction occurred from July 1857 to 1860 when in August the new lighthouse lantern was illuminated. Its familiar one – four – three flash requires 30 seconds to complete and spells out “I Love You” to lovers along the shore. It was from the entrance shown midway up the tower that Winthrop author Edward Rowe Snow was recorded in a movie taking a swan dive into the water below. The third picture is of Boston Light, the only lighthouse which still has a full time lighthouse keeper. All the rest have automated lighting systems to provide their warning beacons to the ships at sea. Located on little Brewster Island, aka “Lighthouse Island” just south of Great Brewster, it is easily accessible by boat and small cruise ships which still transport groups there for a tour of the facility. This was the location of the America’s first lighthouse activated by George Worthylake in 1716 where he served as both a lighthouse keeper and a shepherd. In 1719 a fog signal gun, dated 1700, was established on the island where it may still be seen today. During the Revolution, Boston Light was captured and recaptured by the opposing forces. Finally, in June 1776, the British blew up the top of the light and fled the harbor. It wasn’t until 1783 that the tower was again completed and reactivated. In the fourth picture, Boston’s second lighthouse, the 25 foot high Long Island Head Light, was first lighted in 1819. Known for many years as the Inner Harbor Light, it has been placed at three different locations on the head over looking Fort Strong. Today the light on Long Island is located lower down on the side of the head opposite Deer Island. When in this Lighthouse in 1991, one could see the car battery (which was changed weekly) that provided the charge for the flashing light. Since 1998, the beacon has functioned with a solar operated electrical system.

The selectmen voted Monday to enforce the town’s curfew by-law that requires all youths under the age of 16 to be off the streets by 9 p.m. in an effort to clamp down on the growing problem of violence among youth in the town. Selectwoman Marie Turner said she had received over 100 phone calls on the matter, all in support of enforcing the curfew. The selectmen also voted to convert the Old Church Building into a youth recreation center.

A large fight between two opposing gangs of youths Friday afternoon in the Centre resulted in injuries to the combatants and the arrests of three juveniles, one of whom was charged with a civil rights violation.

The Advisory Committee has endorsed the selectmen’s plans for the town budget to be presented to the upcoming Town Meeting, which includes the use of MWRA mitigation funds for general budget purposes.

The lid finally blew off the long-simmering controversy involving the Winthrop Redevelopment Authority over the weekend when local printer Fred Smith introduced the controversial John Birch Society into the debate. Smith put out a pamphlet from the society, which was published in Louisiana, which criticizes urban renewal. It

The opening session of Town Meeting adhered to all but one of the budget recommendations of the Advisory Committee, resulting in a budget for 1952 of $1,783,854. Though there was much discussion, there was little heated debate on the 36 articles taken up, which included five percent pay-raises for town employees; $40,000 for improvements to Veterans Field; and $7500 for the town’s Centennial celebration later this year.

Winthrop and 49 other communities will stage another surprise blackout next Tuesday at an unannounced time. This means that the air raid wardens will have to be on call and any persons on the streets at that time will be directed by the wardens to find shelter. Local civil defense officials deemed the test blackout held in the town last week a success.

One of the highlights of the annual Town Meeting that concluded its business Monday was the unanimous vote of approval given to the Special Committee on Transportation and Railroad Land for its efforts to obtain a reduction in fares for those who take Rapid Transit buses from Winthrop to Maverick Square.

and claimed fourth place overall. She also competed in moguls.

Molly, who is 12 years old, began skiing at an early age in Stowe (Vermont). “When she was 3, she had skiing lessons at Waterville, and then we moved to our permanent spot at Loon Mountain,” said her mother, Deb Gendreau-Flynn, who along with her husband, Rowland Flynn, are active skiers. “We didn’t teach her. We chose to have experts teach her,” said Deb humbly, adding that her daughter seemed inclined for the “bumps and jumps” of freestyle skiing.

Winning at competitions

By the age of 7, Molly Flynn had entered her first competition at Loon Mountain in Lincoln, N.H., prevailing in her age category.

This season, which runs from late November to the beginning of April, has been a breakout year for Flynn. She has won six separate New England competitions in New Hampshire and Maine.

“There are usually about 16 skiers my division,” said Molly. “Most of the skiers do spreads and spins.”

Asked how high off the mountain she elevates, Molly replied, “Very high. It’s very exciting, but it’s a little scary sometimes, because you’re very high in the air.”

“On aerials, you go straight in and over one huge jump,” explained her mother, Deb. “You do 180 and 360-degree spreads. When Molly does a slope-style run, she does two different rails or boxes, and then two other jumps.”

Molly also trains in her sport during the off season, attending what is known as freestyle ramp camp. “At camp, I ski-jump into a big airbag, so you can practice your tricks off of that,” said Molly, who also plays soccer.

Molly inherited her athletic prowess from her parents. Deb Gendreau-Flynn grew up in Connecticut and was a soccer player and competitive skier. Rowly Flynn, who grew up in East Boston, played ice hockey at Malden Catholic High School.

“I want to thank my parents for always letting me go skiing and letting me have this opportunity,” said Molly.

Monday evening’s start of Town Meeting was a re-

The article was defeated by a 99-69 margin.

Former WYH President Rogers receives George Barker Lifetime Achievement Award

By Cary Shuman

When former Winthrop Youth Hockey president Steve Rogers arrived at Larsen Rink at the Mike Eruzione Center, he wasn't expecting an awards ceremony in his honor.

But current WYH President Steve Indrisano had surprised Rogers neatly, and there was a hearty round of applause as the Winthrop Police lieutenant entered the lobby.

And with that, Rogers was recognized with the esteemed George Barker Award.

"We are here to honor you today with the George Barker Award for dedicated service to Winthrop Youth Hockey," began Indrisano. "Having served under you as you were the former president of Winthrop Youth Hockey, everything that you taught me, everything that I've done over the past terms, has been trying to aspire to do everything that you did.

"You couldn't have been a better leader, a better role model, a better example of a person who cares so much about everyone else and did everything that you did for everyone else within this organization. You put in tremendous amount of work and effort into this program. This award is very well deserved," concluded Indrisano.

In another tribute to Rogers, Winthrop Youth Hockey and WHS Girls Hockey Coach Anthony "Butch" Martucci noted, "Under his presidency, the girls' youth hockey program won five district championship and five state champions. He was an inspirational leader of Winthrop Youth Hockey, allowing the entire program to flourish. I was honored to coach in the Winthrop Youth Hockey program under Steve Rogers as president.”

Martucci said he and his teams appreciated the Police and Fire escorts upon returning to the town after winning state titles. “He [Rogers] was the one who made sure that the girls always had a Police and Fire escort back into town for each of their state championship. I will never forget him doing that for the girls,” said Martucci.
George Barker Jr. said some of Rogers’ other accomplishments included organizing and creating Winthrop Youth Hockey Beach Day, WYH Pond Hockey, the Viking Camp, Try Hockey For Free Day, the WYH Newsletter, the Junior Dangle Club, the Lake Placid Trip, and hosting numerous state tournaments and district competitions.

Membership in Winthrop Youth Hockey increased by 30 percent during Rogers’ presidency, added Barker. Rogers also started the Steve Acone Scholarship for Winthrop High students in memory of the former WHS star and police officer.
Rogers said in brief acceptance speech, “So many other guys in here did a lot of hard work, too. Thank you, everyone. I get misty eyed, so I’m going to stop.”

Rogers served as president of Winthrop Youth Hockey for six years as part of a 20-year run in the organization. He continues to direct the Steve Acone Memorial Hockey Tournament in memory of his childhood friend and neighbor.
Rogers said he played JV hockey for the Winthrop High School Vikings. “The 1984 team was a very talented team, but I made the JV team, and I was very happy,” he said.
Rogers became a Winthrop Police officer in 1992 and has served for 30 years in the Department. His wife,

Components of the phased plan controlled by Massport include items like upgrading lighting systems across all facilities to LEDs, which has already been started, to rehabilitating Logan Airport’s Central Heating Plant, upgrading the Logan Express and shuttle bus fleet to electric vehicles, and installing more solar panels and renewable energy sources.

There is also a section of the plan including emissions that Massport does not control, but can possibly influence. One such example of an area of potential influence would be to enable use of SAF at Logan. SAF, or sustainable aviation fuels, are a renewable/cleaner substitute for fossil jet fuels that reduce carbon emissions and improve the air quality. It is estimated that more than 99% of airline emissions and approximately 50% of airport emissions worldwide are related to the combustion of jet fuel. This past fall, President Biden announced a goal for U.S. companies to produce at least 3 billion gallons of SAF per year by 2030 and, by 2050, sufficient SAF to meet 100% of aviation fuel demand, which is currently projected to be around 35 billion gallons per year. Massport will work to enable use of SAF at our three airports and encourage our airline partners to transition to this alternative fuel while longer term strategies are evaluated, approved and adopted.

Massport currently has several programs to reduce emissions and has had success with environmental initiatives. Past projects include:

- On-airport clean-fuel buses since the mid-1990s;
- In 2001, Hanscom Field became the first U.S. airport to earn ISO 14001 certification for its Environmental Management Systems (EMS);
- In 2003, Conley Terminal was the first U.S. container terminal to implement an EMS and receive ISO 14001 certification;
- In 2005, Logan’s Terminal A redevelopment was the first LEED® Certified airport terminal in the world;
- Installation of on-site renewable energy sources, including solar and wind;
- Developed more than 37 acres of greenspace within our surrounding communities;

- two new parks currently being designed in East Boston will be an additional 8 acres
- Since 1990, Massport has invested more than $100 million in High Occupancy Vehicle (HOV) transportation to and from Logan Airport, including the Logan Express system and free MBTA Silver Line service to South Station;
- In 2014, completed the Rental Car Center at Logan—a LEED Gold certified building that consolidated nine rental car agencies into one center; reduced 100 diesel buses trips to 28 hybrid buses per hour; decreased shuttle bus vehicle miles by 70%, with an accompanying 35% decrease in airport-related emissions. The facility also has rooftop solar panels that account for 5% of the building’s energy usage;
- Cut carbon emissions at Logan by 40% by 2019 – goal was 2020;
- Cut energy consumption at Logan by 25% by 2019 – goal was 2020.

Massport will continue to pursue outside funding to help pay for some of these projects. The Authority was recently awarded $600,000 by the Mass. Clean Energy Center for a pilot project to build electric vehicle infrastructure at Logan to catalyze the electrification of the ride-for-hire industry. In 2020, Massport received a $4M VALE grant to acquire charging stations at Logan for eGSE (electric ground service equipment). The EPA granted Massport $500,000 in 2018 to install airline owned eGSE charging stations at Logan’s Terminal B, and $330,000 in 2015 for a Clean Diesel Project at Conley Terminal.

The next steps in the road map will be prioritizing the projects, further data analysis, creating the budget strategy, and timeline.

TOWN PAWS

Garden Planning with Pets in Mind

By Penny & Ed Cherubino

“More than 20 million novice gardeners picked up a trowel for the first time swelling the ranks of American gardeners to more than 63 million according to Bonnie Plants CEO Mike Sutterer,” so reported Pat Munts recently in Spokane, Washington’s The Spokesman-Review.

Some of these are the same folks who added companion animals to their lives. Since this is the time of year when gardeners, new and old, begin to work on their plots and plans, we wanted to share some essential considerations on pet-friendly gardens.

Safety First

Insecticides, herbicides, weed killers, antifungals, and other garden chemicals are not the only pet dangers in a garden. For those, read the “Material Safety Data Sheets” available with each and decide what you find safe to use around your pets. Use care in storing these products in a pet-proof manner. Watch for mushrooms that grow in wood mulches. Those may be harmful.

Warnings from ER Veterinarians

Veterinarians in ER practices see dangers in a garden that most of us would never consider. Naturally, they will warn you about plants that are poisonous to animals. Some are more dangerous than others but choosing plant material with your animals in mind can help you avoid a mildly sick pup or a trip to the emergency room.

The ASPCA’s website has a list of plants that are toxic to dogs and cats. It includes some photos if you don’t know the name of a plant that you might have inherited. Even those of us who don’t garden may want to visit the site because we’ve spotted toxic flora along the edge of sidewalks and poking through garden fences.

Some gardens also serve as memorials to beloved animals.

These doctors also see dogs with scratches on their cornea from rose bushes, who have cut a paw on lawn edging, swallowed wood chips or rocks used as garden decor, or have ingested “cocoa mulch” made from cocoa bean shells and potentially dangerous to

Blue Line to close from Airport to Gov. Center stations next month

By John Lynds

At a recent community meeting the MBTA’s Adam Kamoune announced some bad news for local commuters.

At the meeting Kamoune said the MBTA will be closing down the Blue Line for nearly two weeks between Airport and Government Center from Saturday, April 2 to Thursday, April 14 for harbor tunnel repair work.

“The bad news is we do have to divert the Blue Line from April 2 through April 14,” said Kamoune. “The MBTA at this time is replacing 1,800 feet of track but the good news is this work is going to make the tunnel a lot more resilient and less prone to some of the concerns that we’re hearing from folks from the environmental community. This work will also make our service just a little more reliable in the future.”

Kamoune said part of the work includes a lot of tunnel inspection, tunnel lighting repair, fiber optic cable installation, removing abandoned cable that exists in the tunnel.

“We are also performing signal repairs, which is a major source of issues on the Blue Line when there are so-called “blind delays”, said Kamoune. “We’re also investigating some of the drainage issues that we have in the tunnel—especially because it goes under the harbor.”

Kamoune said commuters will have to use shuttle buses from the Blue Line’s downtown stations to Airport Station in East Boston. These buses will stop at the Aquarium, State Street and Government Center and Maverick.

“So during this time, we’ll be bussing folks from Airport station to Bowdoin and back,” said Kamoune. “So you’ll have regular train service from Airport to Wonderland in Revere.”

Kamoune said express shuttles will be servicing Airport, Aquarium, State (drop off only) and Government Center. Local shuttles will service Airport, Maverick, Aquarium, State (drop off only) and Government Center.

Development of Suffolk Downs mixed-use project begins on Revere side

By John Lynds

At an Orient Heights Neighborhood Council (OHNC) meeting Monday night, representatives from HYM were on hand to discuss progress on the Suffolk Downs mixed-use development project.

HYM’s Michael Barowsky kicked things off saying that all the barns and stables on the Revere side of the project near Beachmont MBTA have been demolished and infrastructure work has begun around what will eventually become the Beachmont Square gateway section under Phase One of the project.

Barowsky said part of Phase One will include erecting the first, second and third residential buildings as well as a hotel, office space and a life science building.

“There are five key buildings that are part of this phase of the development including a small boutique office building in the corner of the site,” said Barowsky. “Our first residential building as well as our second residential building will have about 450 units and we’ll also be bringing a hotel during our initial phase, which will be on the corner of a new street that we’re building into the site. We will also be constructing our first Life Science Building this year that we are really excited about. Finally, we have an additional residential building for a total of 1.7 million square feet of development for Phase One.”

Barowsky said this Phase will be built out over the next three years beginning this year.

“We’re building out all the roadways, plazas and doing some roadway work off site as well,” he said.

HYM’s Michael Barowsky talks about Phase One of the Suffolk Downs project at a meeting Monday night.

Part of Phase One will also include the construction of the Beachmont Square entry plaza, which is roughly an acre.

“There’s some built-in seating in the stairs on one of the buildings and we’ll actually have room for performance in a grassy area in the middle,” said Barowsky. “This is of course open to everybody as a park and a plaza with retail and outdoor seating. This plaza is really to welcome the community.”

Barowsky added that the ground floor retail in the first phase will consist of local and regional retailers and restaurants.

“We will not be doing any “big-box” stores on the site,” he said. “We are already adjacent to a Super Stop & Shop and a Target.”

Lastly, an outdoor performance theater being built as part of Phase One will double as a stormwater detention basin.

“This is something that would be built towards the end of our initial phase,” said Barowsky. “Again, this will be open to all and we think it’s a great public amenity.”

your pets.

We suggest that you pet-proof your garden with a dog or cat view inspection. While down low tending your plants, look around carefully and see what is going on at the four-paw level. Walk barefoot in the space to feel what might hurt or even cut a paw. Consider what your dog or cat can reach at full stretch.

Garden Training

How safe a particular dog is in a garden depends on the age, breed, temperament, and how well-trained that pup happens to be. Like all other aspects of life with dogs, training your companion to be a polite garden visitor will take some effort.

Small breeds are designed to be human companions, these guys are normally easy on a garden. But, dogs with high energy, strong instincts to dig, guard, or hunt need careful monitoring and correction.

That mint wouldn’t have hurt her, but there are plants that, while safe for humans, could be dangerous for her. Keep any questionable plants out of reach. Remain alert. Leaves can fall, plant food can spill, the gardener could be a bit careless, and your dog or cat might be sickened by a plant despite your best efforts to keep the two apart.
