Town Council approves putting $4.95 million school override on November ballot

By Adam Swift

The fate of a $4.95 million Proposition 2-½ override for the schools will now be in the hands of the town's voters in November.

Tuesday night, the town council voted to put the override request on the November ballot. The money will help fund the school department's operating budget for three years, beginning in Fiscal Year 2026.

"Our vision is to create an educational system that serves as a cornerstone of our community's success and well-being," stated School Committee Chair Jennifer Powell in the official letter to the council requesting it place the override on the ballot. "Every student deserves access to outstanding educational opportunities, cutting-edge resources, and a safe, nurturing learning environment."

In a review of the budget projections and allocations, Powell stated that it is clear that the schools cannot continue to provide the same level of services without an increase in the budget beyond the town's current projected resource-es.

If approved, the override would go into effect on July 1 of next year and would help sustain the school budget for three years, Powell stated.

The Proposition 2-½ override request is the first

Town continues to explore new fire station locations

By Adam Swift

The town basketball courts on Walden Street remain in play as a potential site for a new fire station.

Town Council President Jim Letterie provided an update on efforts to select a site for a new fire station and bring forward a possible debt exclusion vote to fund the project in November. Last November, voters rejected an approximately $40 million debt exclusion vote that would have funded the building of a new fire station at the Council calls for special meeting with planning board on 3A recommendations

By Adam Swift

The town council will hold a special meeting with the planning board on Thursday, August 15 at 6 p.m. at the senior center.

"This would give the Winthrop Planning Board the opportunity to share with us what they have so far in terms of so far with (the MBTA) 3A (Communities Act) and what they will be recommending," said Council President Jim Letterie.

The planning board would then be required to vote on its final recommendation on 3A zoning for the town council, but Letterie said that vote will likely not take place at the August 15 meeting.

"Whenever they do decide to vote, hopefully shortly after our joint meeting, that will then come to the council automatically," said Letterie.

Letterie said the council would then have a window to act and vote on the planning board 3A recommendations. Letterie and

Council outlines concerns with ferry service

By Adam Swift

The Winthrop Town Council has expressed its frustration with MassDOT and the MBTA over the operation of the Winthrop ferry service.

Tuesday night, the council approved sending a letter to MassDOT Secretary Monica Tibbets-Nutt and MBTA Executive Director Phillip Eng outlining some of the town's concerns, including the need to separate the Winthrop service from the Quincy service, and a request to make ferry service a year-round affair.

The councilors also criticized the state and the MBTA for appropriating the Winthrop ferry boat to assist with ferry service in Quincy. Last year, Winthrop entered into a two-year agreement with the MBTA to operate the town's ferry.

The letter was co-authored by councilors Joseph Aiello and Hannah Belcher.

"We write this letter in frustration with a straight-forward request - please make the Winthrop ferry a permanent service, characterized by direct service to East Boston, South Boston, and Downtown Boston waterfronts," the council stated in the letter.

The council also reiterated a past request, made in conjunction with the city of Quincy, to separate the two communities ferry services from each other.

"We were stunned by Officers recovered approximately 32 grams of fentanyl and 48 grams of crack cocaine, as well as cash, cellphones and more in an arrest on Monday afternoon.

Lynn man arrested on drug trafficking

Chief John Goodwin reports that the Winthrop Police Department arrested a Lynn man on charges of drug trafficking and resisting arrest.

Luis De Dios Carvajal, age 30, of Lynn, was charged with:

- Trafficking Over 36 Grams of Fentanyl
- Trafficking Over 18 Grams of Cocaine
- Resisting Arrest

On Monday, July 29, at about 12 p.m., Winthrop Police and the Suffolk County Sheriff's Department executed three search warrants for the person, vehicle, and cellphone of De Dios Carvajal.

Police were conducting surveillance in the area of 200 Governor's Drive when they observed De Dios Carvajal's white Honda CR-V. De Dios Carvajal exited the vehicle, at which point officers approached him to execute the search warrants.

De Dios Carvajal attempted to run from the scene but was apprehended and placed under arrest.

While running away, officers observed De Dios Carvajal drop an object on the ground. A subsequent search located the object, a paper towel containing two clear plastic bags, both filled with a powdery substance.

A search of the vehicle located several additional plastic bags containing powdery and rock substances in a panel of the car. Officers recovered approximately 32 grams of fentanyl and 48 grams of crack cocaine. Police also found $1,933 in cash, three deposit receipts totaling $2,900, two cellphones, and De Dios Carvajal's wallet.

De Dios Carvajal is being held without bail at East Boston District Court pending a dangerousness hearing.

"As I stated in my swearing-in in front of the Town Council and residents, one of my main objectives is to continue quality investigations into drug trafficking in the community," said Chief Goodwin. "This is great work by our Winthrop officers in coordination with the Suffolk County Sheriff's Department to remove a significant amount of illegal drugs from our streets."

These are allegations. All suspects are considered innocent until proven guilty.

Winthrop MVP grant requests denied by state

By Adam Swift

Last week, Governor Maura Healey announced over $54 million in Municipal Vulnerability Preparedness Grants (MVP) for more than 60 communities in the state, including Chelsea, Everett, Revere, and East Boston.

However, Winthrop's two MVP grant requests to help fund flooding and stormwater mitigation planning efforts were not included in that windfall.

"We did get notification that our two applications put before the state for MVP grants were not approved," said Town Manager Tony Marino. "We had one for $1.2 million approximately for Morton and Banks, and the second one for a little over $400,000 for the Pico Ave area to do some studies over there."

MVP grants offer financial resources to communities that are seeking to advance priority climate adaptation actions to address climate change impacts resulting from extreme weather, sea level rise, inland and coastal flooding, severe heat, and other climate impacts, according to the state Executive Office of Energy and Environmental Affairs website.

Marino said the town did some digging, along with the help of state Representative Jeff Turco, to find out why the grant applications were not approved.

"They had some concerns, they said to Rep. Turco that maybe we should have finetuned the ask we were looking for," said Marino.

The town manager said there were several options for potential mitigation projects laid out in the applications.

"We let them know which way we were leaning, as far as the earth berm and trying to protect the coastline, but that is what they told him," said Marino. "I did request a meeting with them ... to find out exactly why and what those concerns were. I was on those calls and I can't recall them being that totally cautious, but they also say they get a high volume of requests for money and they couldn't appropriate everybody."

Town Council President Jim Letterie said the denial of the MVP grants was disappointing.

"I'm not accusing anyone of anything, but it smells very political to me," said Letterie. "Revere would get one-year funding for the same project we are looking for and Boston also."

While Winthrop continues to debate the merits of the MBTA 3A Communities Act zoning, Letterie noted that Revere has passed a 3A plan and Boston is not required to approve a plan.

"It's discouraging there, but take it for what it is worth," said Letterie.

State officials announce first case of WNV

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) announced the first human case of West Nile virus (WNV) and the first animal case of Eastern equine encephalitis (EEE) in the state this year.

The individual is a male in his 40s who was exposed to WNV in Hampden County. The EEE infection was diagnosed in a horse exposed in Plymouth. Mosquito samples collected in Dedham also tested positive for EEE. These findings raise the EEE risk level to high in Plymouth and to low in Dedham.

This is in addition to the two communities currently at high risk for EEE: Carver and Middleborough. There are 12 communities already at moderate risk for EEE: Amesbury, Groveland, Halifax, Haverhill, Kingston, Merrimac, Newburyport, Plymouth, Plympton, Salisbury, Wareham, and West Newbury.

The risk of human infection with WNV is moderate in the Greater Boston area (Middlesex, Norfolk, and Suffolk counties), and in parts of Bristol, Essex, Hampden, Plymouth, and Worcester counties.

The first WNV-positive mosquitoes in Massachusetts this year were announced on July 2 from Quincy. On July 3, the season's first EEE-positive mosquitoes in Massachusetts were announced from Carver. There have also been EEE-infected mosquitoes previously identified in Halifax and Kingston in Plymouth County, Barnstable in Barnstable County, and Amesbury and Haverhill in Essex County.

"Historically, August and September are the months when most people are exposed to West Nile virus in Massachusetts. This is also the first year with elevated EEE activity since our last outbreak in 2019 and 2020," said Public Health Commissioner Robbie Goldstein, MD, PhD. "Populations of mosquitoes that can carry and spread these viruses are large this year and we continue to see increases in the number of EEE- and WNV-positive mosquito samples throughout the state. Residents should continue to take precautions to avoid mosquito bites."

WNV is usually transmitted to humans through the bite of an infected mosquito. There were six human cases of WNV and no animal cases in 2023. No animal cases of WNV have been detected so far this year.

EEE is a rare but serious and potentially fatal disease that can affect people of all ages. EEE is generally spread to humans through the bite of an infected mosquito. There were 12 human cases of EEE in Massachusetts in 2019 with six deaths, and five human cases with one death in 2020. There were no human cases of EEE in Massachusetts in 2021, 2022, or 2023. No human cases of EEE have been detected so far this year.

"We continue to recommend taking steps to prevent mosquito bites until the first hard frost," said State Epidemiologist Dr. Catherine M. Brown. "People should use mosquito repellent with an EPA-registered active ingredient, clothing to reduce exposed skin, and consider rescheduling outdoor activities that occur during the evening or early morning."

People have an important role to play in protecting themselves and their loved ones from illnesses caused by mosquitoes.

Avoid Mosquito Bites

Apply Insect Repellent when Outdoors. Use a repellent with an EPA-registered ingredient, such as DEET (N,N-diethyl-m-toluamide), permethrin, picaridin (KBR 3023), or oil of lemon eucalyptus (p-menthane-3,8-diol (PMD) or IR3535) according to the instructions on the product label. DEET products should not be used on infants under two months of age and should be used in concentrations of 30 percent or less on older children. Oil of lemon eucalyptus should not be used on children under three years of age.

Be Aware of Peak Mosquito Hours.

The hours from dusk to dawn are peak biting times for many mosquitoes. Consider rescheduling outdoor activities that occur during evening or early morning in areas of high risk.

Clothing Can Help Reduce Mosquito Bites. Wearing long sleeves, long pants and socks when outdoors will help keep mosquitoes away from your skin.

Mosquito-Proof Your Home

Drain Standing Water. Mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water. Limit the number of places around your home for mosquitoes to breed by draining or discarding items that hold water.

Check rain gutters and drains. Empty unused flowerpots and wading pools and change the water in birdbaths frequently.

Install or Repair Screens.

Keep mosquitoes outside by having tightly fitting screens on all windows and doors.

Protect Your Animals

Animal owners should reduce potential mosquito breeding sites on their property by eliminating standing water from containers such as buckets, tires, and wading pools – especially after heavy rains. Water troughs provide excellent mosquito breeding habitats and should be flushed out at least once a week during the summer months to reduce mosquitoes near paddock areas. Horse owners should keep horses in indoor stalls at night to reduce their risk of exposure to mosquitoes. Owners should also speak with their veterinarian about mosquito repellents approved for use in animals and vaccinations to prevent WNV and EEE. If an animal is suspected of having WNV or EEE, owners are required to report to the Department of Agricultural Resources, Division of Animal Health by calling 617-626-1795, and to the Department of Public Health by calling 617-983-6800.

More information, including all WNV- and EEE-positive results, can be found on the Arbovirus Surveillance Information web page at Mosquito-borne Diseases | Mass.gov, which is updated daily, or by calling the DPH Division of Epidemiology at 617-983-6800.

Town Manager Tony Marino said they would verify whether the council has a 30- or a 60-day window to vote on the recommendation.

The meeting is being held in the senior center to give more residents the ability to attend, the council president said.

Letterie said the planning board will be sharing the work it has been doing with the town's 3A consultant, RKG, and what its thoughts are on the consultant's work and the board's potential recommendations.

"The planning board has met, they have done incredible work, they have met with the consultant who we are paying to give them an answer," said Letterie. "They have come up with a decision that they are going to give to us, and it's our obligation to take this seriously and to do the work that we were voted in to do and to vote on a proposal."

OUR Opinions

NOAH LYLES' — AND OUR — OLYMPIC MOMENT

The quadrennial Summer Olympics turns even the least of sports fans among us into active, if not rabid, rooters of the athletes who captivate our hearts and imaginations, both in sports with which we are familiar (basketball, soccer, gymnastics) and those that we get to see only once-every-four-years (pole vaulting).

The Olympics are the ultimate shared experience for people of all ages. The shots of the jubilant young gymnasts who gathered in their home gyms to root on Simone Biles and the U.S. team reminded us of our youth, when we sat in our living rooms with our parents and siblings to watch seemingly every minute of Olympics coverage (in those days, the Olympics took on greater meaning thanks in large part to the atmosphere of the Cold War-era when the competition between the U.S. and the Soviet bloc was a proxy for world politics at the time), and then doing the same with our own children decades later.

Those memories of past Olympics cascade in our mind's eye, with one memory leading to a host of others:

-- The 1968 Mexico Olympics, when Tommy Smith and John Carlos raised their fists in the Black Power salute on the medals podium, and when the long jump of Bob Beamon, which was almost two feet further than the then-world record, led Beamon to completely break down in sobbing when his result finally was posted (it took almost half-an-hour because his jump so far exceeded the measuring equipment at the time that the judges finally had to resort to using a tape measure);

-- The tragedy of the 1972 Munich Olympics when Palestinian terrorists kidnapped and murdered Israeli athletes, which overshadowed Russian Olga Korbut's historic gymnastics beam performance and swimmer Mark Spitz's seven gold medals (and his iconic photo);

-- Bruce Jenner's decathlon gold in 1976 in Montreal, which also featured Romania's Nadia Comaneci's first-ever perfect 10 in gymnastics;

-- Carl Lewis's track feats in the 1980s;

-- Michael Johnson's amazing feat of winning gold in the 200 and 400 in the Atlanta Olympics in 1996 (which also included a tragic bombing that killed one person and injured more than 100);

-- Michael Phelps winning eight golds in 2008;

-- The incomparable Usain Bolt winning the 100 and 200 dashes in 2012 and 2016 that turned all of us into Jamaican track fans;

-- And of course, the Winter Olympics of 1980, when Winthrop's Mike Eruzione captained the U.S. hockey team to a gold medal at Lake Placid over a heavily-favored Soviet team -- all of us can remember where we were that Friday afternoon when Mike scored the winning goal, and then two days later when the Americans beat the Finns to win the gold medal (we missed that game because we were playing in the Chelsea YMHA's Wild Animal basketball league on Sunday mornings).

So it was with a lifetime's worth of Olympic memories that we tuned in to watch the men's 100 meter finals on Sunday afternoon in which America's Noah Lyles was competing in the first of what he hoped would be a Bolt-like 100-200 double.

As we all know, that 100 meter race will forever be etched in Olympic history. Lyles was dead last through the first 40 meters. The NBC commentator (the Australian guy who otherwise does a great job) called it right away for Jamaica's Kishane Thompson -- "Jamaica's going to do it! Kishane Thompson is a gold medalist!" -- a mistake worthy of the historic "Dewey Beats Truman" newspaper headline.

In the announcer's defense, even Lyles himself thought that Thompson had won. But then the waiting game began -- and for 29 seconds the entire world waited for the official announcement (vs. the 29 minutes it took to measure Bob Beamon's jump). When Lyles was declared the winner by five one thousandths of a second (that's .005), the joy and emotion, epitomized by Lyles's mom almost collapsing in the stands, but then rallying to give her son a big bear hug when he fell into her arms -- was shared by all of us.

Even diehard sports fans such as ourselves learned something new from that race. We always had assumed that the first part of the body to cross the line is what counted. But unlike horse racing (for which the phrase "wins by a nose" is accurate), a human race is determined by the torso, which effectively means the clavicle (commonly called the collarbone) because the runners are leaning forward as they hit the line.

So even though other parts of Thompson's body had crossed the finish line ahead of Lyles's, Noah's clavicle had reached the line ahead of Thompson, and thus he was awarded the gold medal. It was an Olympic moment for the ages -- and one that we and the hundreds of millions of people watching worldwide will never forget.

What could have been: Amendment No. 105 as changed to Bill H4876

By Chris Marchi with AIR, Inc.

The basic idea is that all Americans have the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, right? So it follows that if families living in areas near power plants, chemical factories, or airports get asthma, COPD, or any number of other chronic health problems because of exposure to pollution that comes from those types of facilities, their constitutional rights are being violated. That's what environmental justice, also known as "EJ", is all about.

Very often, polluting facilities end up located away from where wealthy people live, and closer to where working class and lower income people live. Environmental justice laws strive to ensure that families who are living near polluting facilities get equal protection from environmental damage. These families are often non-English speaking people, people with lower educational attainment, and people of color.

Not everybody recognizes this, but living next to a major international airport comes with serious environmental consequences. Most of the East Boston, Chelsea, Winthrop, and Revere area has large environmental justice communities. As a volunteer for Airport Impact Relief, Incorporated (AIR, Inc.) I've worked to achieve environmental justice for 30 years. AIR, Inc.'s work to push for air filtration programs alongside Mothers Out Front and others, our work with the Mary Ellen Welch Greenway and others to extend the East Boston Greenway, etc., is all about achieving environmental justice.

The biggest problem we've faced over AIR, Inc.'s 60+ years of activism has been the lack of environmental accountability at the Massachusetts Port Authority (Massport) which owns and operates Logan Airport. One of the main reasons we've had so much trouble getting Massport to accept accountability for the impacts of Logan's noise and pollution is that it has not been in Massport's job description to worry about the negative environmental consequences of aviation. Massport was established by an act of the state legislature back in 1956, at a time when politicians and planners weren't thinking about environmental damage and people's environmental rights as much as they were trying to support and grow economic benefits of aviation, building highways, and bulldozing urban communities through urban renewal plans.

When our partners at Stop Private Jet Expansion at Hanscom reached out about the effort to improve Massport's enabling language, we saw that there was an opportunity to strengthen the language from just mentioning equity, to specifically requiring the Port Authority to consider environmental justice in their mission. This language became Amendment #105 to Bill H4876 ("The Climate Bill"), which was formed in the legislative session that closed on July 31.

With the help of Representative Adrian Madaro and many of his colleagues in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, we came up with much stronger language for "The Climate Bill" than what was originally proposed. The new language required that Massport consider "environmental resiliency and reductions in greenhouse gas emissions, and incorporating environmental justice principles". After passing to the final stages of the legislative process with enormous support from advocates across Massachusetts, Bill H4876 was declined last week when conference committee negotiations broke down.

We thank Representatives Madaro, Peisch, Cataldo, Gordon, Gentile, Ciccolo, and the numerous other representatives who signed the Climate Bill for their advocacy. We were thrilled with the proposed new language, and we were disappointed to learn that the Climate Bill was abandoned at a late hour on the final legislative workday for the session. We are disappointed that Massport has not yet been given a legislative mandate to work collaboratively with the neighborhoods who support it to reduce environmental impacts. We are worried for our futures, and for our children's futures.

Under the Port Authority's current charter, Massport's staff, board, and leadership has no explicit responsibility to reduce environmental impacts. They see their calling as boosting the economy. The unspoken paradigm is "It's the economy versus the environment" and without the requirement to address environmental costs, Massport has routinely chosen the most environmentally destructive alternatives.

Over the past 65 years or so that Massport has been in existence, the "grow first at any and all environmental costs approach" which has prevailed at the Massachusetts Port Authority has resulted in massive and ongoing environmental damage. To grow Logan, Massport has consumed 1,500 acres of Boston Harbor, 3 harbor islands, and 2 urban parks. Massport and the state have taken hundreds of homes and businesses in East Boston by eminent domain, bulldozed 3 urban neighborhoods. Today, Massport's Logan airport releases 35,000 LBS of EPA criteria air pollution into the air in East Boston every day. We experience hundreds of night time flights which destroy our sleep, and Logan's traffic in the air and ground grows worse by the day. Hanscom residents deal with disproportionate burdens as well.

We cannot continue to ask residents in airport impacted communities to fight the Authority for every gain at every turn. With the language in Amendment 105, hopefully we would not have needed to. However, the Massachusetts' legislature has decided yet again to prioritize profits and political posturing over the wellbeing of residents.

Chris Marchi is from Air inc that is an East Boston based environmental group focused on improving the quality of life of all people – especially the most vulnerable: children, elderly, the more susceptible and those with fewer means – living in communities surrounding New England's Logan International Airport, by mitigating the noise, air quality and traffic impacts of our large and growing airport.

LETTER to the Editor

WHY RESIDENTS SHOULD SUPPORT THE 2.5 OVERRIDE FOR SCHOOLS' FUTURE

Dear Editor:

As proud members of the Winthrop community, we have always valued the importance of a strong educational system. Our schools are the heart of our town, shaping the future of our children and, by extension, the future of our community. Today, we are writing to express our wholehearted support for the proposed 2.5 override for Winthrop Public Schools and to urge our fellow residents to join us in this crucial endeavor.

Our town has not had an override in 15 years. The annual 2.5% increase on the tax levy is insufficient to keep up with the operational cost of our school system. We simply cannot deliver adequate educational services during a time of historic inflation and a continued increase in unfunded education mandates from the state. State aid is not significantly increasing for Winthrop while enrollment continues to rise. At the same time, new growth revenue is small.

During the COVID 19 Pandemic (FY21-FY24), we were fortunate to receive significant pan-democratic grant funding to supplement our school budgets, allowing us to provide appropriate staffing, materials, supplies and student support services that would not have been possible otherwise. These funds were not used in haste – they were spent to address our facility and technology needs, student academic recovery supports, and the mental health of our students and staff during these challenging times.

The 2.5 override is not just a fiscal measure; it is a commitment to preserving the quality of education in Winthrop. Here are some of the key reasons why this override is essential:

Maintaining Optimal Class Sizes: Small class sizes are vital for effective teaching and learning. Supporting the override will help us maintain our current teacher and support staff levels, ensuring that each student continues to receive the attention and support they need to succeed.

Supporting Struggling Learners: The override will allow us to maintain existing student support services, including counseling and special education, to ensure all students receive the help they need to succeed.

Maintaining Technology and Infrastructure: It is essential to sustain the current level of technology and infrastructure in our schools. The override will help us keep our classrooms equipped with the necessary educational tools to meet 21st-century educational standards.

Supporting Mental Health and Social Emotional Learning: The override will ensure that we continue to provide essential mental health and social-emotional supports for all students, from kindergarten through 12th grade.

Facility Maintenance: Maintaining safe and conducive learning environments is crucial. The override will support necessary upkeep and repairs of our school facilities.

Retaining and Attracting Quality Educators: Our teachers and staff are the backbone of our educational system. The additional funding will help us maintain competitive salaries and professional development opportunities, ensuring we retain our dedicated educators.

7. Preserving Extracurricular Activities: Extracurricular activities, including sports and the arts, play a crucial role in the holistic development of our students. By supporting the override, we ensure that these programs remain funded and accessible, providing students with valuable opportunities for personal growth, teamwork, and creative expression.

Please be assured: asking for a 2.5 override during a time when many of our residents feel financially strapped is not a decision made lightly. However, the future of our children and our community depends on the quality of education we provide today. By sustaining our schools, we are investing in a stable and prosperous future for Winthrop.

We urge you to support the 2.5 override and join us in voting for the continued excellence of Winthrop Public Schools. In the coming months, we will be hosting multiple public events in order to answer your questions and gather community feedback about this crucial vote.

Together, we can ensure that our children receive the education they deserve and that our community continues to thrive.

Thank you for your attention and support.

The growth of the North Shore from East Boston to Salem is quite astonishing to those who remember when they used to shoot snipe and yellow legs and dig clams and go swimming in Adam's costume up and down its beaches and off its headlands. But now it is lined with summer settlements and hotels and one need not go to Bar Harbor or Maine for beautiful ocean views and the bracing air of the ocean when they are so close to home. Great Head in Winthrop offers one of the most magnificent views of the ocean between Boston and Manchester and is but a half hour sail from Boston, past Ft. Independence and Apple Island (where the remains of the men-of-war from the shipyard are still smoldering on the beach) along Winthrop's south shore, and then a 10 minute train ride to the water's edge.

SUMNER TUNNEL REOPENS

The Sumner Tunnel reopened to traffic on Monday at 5 a.m. before the morning commute. The tunnel had been completely shut down since July 5 as part of a multi-year restoration project. The closure was the next phase of a project that began in April of 2022 and included work on the tunnel roadway, walls, drainage and additional improvements which will increase safety and climate resiliency. The project is a $160 million investment in the Commonwealth's infrastructure.

During the 31-day shutdown, the existing asphalt was removed from the length of the roadway and the concrete below was rehabilitated. Granite curbing and drain inlet were replaced and the installation of new fireboard was completed. The entire length of the roadway was repaved. The new pavement will be lined, and the tunnel cleaned prior to reopening.

The Sumner Tunnel Restoration Project offered a variety of mitigation options for individuals coming from all travel points. Mitigation options included free trips on the MBTA Blue Line; free and reduced cost water ferry options; reduced Commuter Rail fares for riders; reduced parking costs at MBTA and Commuter Rail parking lots and garages; discounted tolls for residents; and additional options for travelers to and from Logan Airport.

A limited number of weekend closures are planned for the fall. At their conclusion, no later than the end of November, the project will be complete.

SUMNER SUMMER PROJECT BY THE NUMBERS:

- The tunnel was closed for 31 days during which construction was ongoing 24/7.
- 3 shifts a day over 31 days equals 93 work shifts.
- 13,516 square yards of concrete roadway were rehabilitated.
- 3,122 tons of asphalt paving was laid.
- 320 linear feet of granite curbing was replaced.
- 69 new drainage inlets were installed.
- 13,988 square feet of fireboard were installed.
- Mitigation costs for FY24 and FY25 totaled $13 million dollars.

the MBTA's unilateral decision this year to take a Winthrop provided boat and gut the service to our community, while favoring Quincy," the council stated. "Given this, Winthrop ridership has decreased while Quincy's has increased as would be expected." During the Summer Tunnel closure, the letter states that Winthrop residents have been turned away from the boat as it has reached capacity. The council also raised concerns about the condition and care of the Valkyrie ferry boat, which was given to the MBTA last year after the town installed two new motors and made other improvements. "We are disappointed with the performance of the boat and the measures your vendor may have needed to take to keep the boat operating as expected," the council stated. The council went on to outline some reasons it believes ferry service for Winthrop should be year-round and affordable for residents, with no more than two hours between trips. The council stated that the MBTA has a long history of undeserving Winthrop despite the amount of payments the town makes to the T. The limited avenues for people to get in and out of the town was also raised as a concern. "We must have a ferry because both of our vehicular pathways out of town are one line in each direction, each threatened by climate change and each unable to be expanded," the council stated in the letter. The council also stated that the ferries can help act as a mitigation measure to public safety challenges in the town posed by the MWRA and Massport, and that Winthrop is a densely populated environmental justice community. "Let us be clear – we want and need the T to invest in our services," the letter continues. "We need commitment, not idle chatter. Send a proposal for calendar year 2025 that provides for year round, seven day per week service that runs directly into the three Boston ferry stops and not to Quincy at all." At Tuesday night's meeting, several residents spoke in favor of the town's position on the ferry service and the general lack of service from the MBTA. "We are historically underserved, and we stand to be even less served if the proposed changes under the bus network redesign come to fruition," said Julia Wallerice. "That's not until phase three, it's unfunded, it may never happen, but the sentiment is there that Winthrop is generally underappreciated by our transit agency. I want to commend Senator Edwards and Representative Turco for getting the T to operate our ferry service, but it sucks, we deserve better, it clearly prioritizes Quincy over Winthrop, which the letter makes very clear, we are a waterlogged community and we need water transit that works." Aiello said that if everything went well, there is the possibility that the MBTA could commit to a year-round ferry service, but he said even under the best circumstances, that could still be a year out. "I think a well-designed, well-priced, frequent service could be successful, seven days a week," said Aiello. "Part of the concern with year-roundness, even with the Hingham Ferry, traditionally has been the concern about winters and winter ice. In the last six or seven years, the Hingham ferry has never been obstructed by ice." Councillor-at-Large Max Tassinari, who works for MassDOT, recused himself from the vote on sending the letter to MassDOT and the MBTA.

Letterie said there will be more detailed information about the costs and details of building on the basketball courts at a future meeting. In addition, he said the town will be sending out a questionnaire to residents to help determine the town's willingness to build on several potential locations.

At Tuesday night's meeting, Town Manager Tony Marino said the Walden Street location and the old middle school appear to be the two sites the town could be most likely to move forward to the ballot at this point.

"We are still going forward with a firehouse and recommendations and getting a questionnaire out to the public," said Letterie. "This is something that is not going away."

Letterie said the town has been working with architectural firm Kaestle Boos to work up plans to show how the fire station would work on Walden Street.

The project would include infrastructure to improve the parking situation for the nearby E.B. Newton building, as well as the Cummings School.

"We also want to talk to the schools about potential pick-ups and drop-offs and how that would affect that and make it a safe environment for kids and parents," said Letterie. "So this is potentially feasible, we have talked to (the architect) and they have given us a price as to what this type of project might cost, and that price is going to be in the $35 million range."

If the town were to move forward with building on Walden Street, it would relocate the two basketball courts, Letterie said.

"They are only two basketball courts, but I know how much use they get ... they get a tremendous amount of use, and this could be a potential benefit to move them a little bit further away from the Pillar House but in that approximate area," said Letterie. "This is all something that is going to be very fluid, but we think we are going to have information where we can get some sort of questionnaire out to citizens to see what plan that they might be willing to support."

Marino said it will be up to the town council to decide which building option it wants to bring forward to voters.

"I think we are dialed in on potentially the middle school site and (the basketball courts) so I think those might be the two options you want to put out there and we do survey questions around that," said Marino.

While there has been no vote yet to put a debt exclusion for a fire station on the ballot, Letterie said he would like to see one on the November ballot.

"A debt exclusion is different from an override," said Letterie. "A potential debt exclusion for a firehouse would not hit the taxes for probably two years, probably the first to second quarter of Fiscal 27."

On a debt exclusion, Letterie said the town typically borrows money at different times depending on the progress of the project.

"You borrow a little at the beginning to get started, you don't want to borrow the money that you are not going to need for two years," said Letterie. "It takes three to three-and-a-half years before it fully hits, and then you look at the debt exclusions that will be coming off."

Letterie said the plans and timeline for the site selection and possible debt exclusion for a new fire station will remain on the agenda for future council meetings.

Winthrop's girls youth softball program draws large turnout for 2024 season

By Cary Shuman

Yes, we know Winthrop is widely regarded as a hockey town.

But there's another popular sport that's making a huge comeback: girls' softball.

Thanks to the vision of program founder Christina Marengi and the support of Winthrop Little League President Matthew Emanuelson, enrollment in Winthrop softball is soaring.

Marengi foresaw an opportunity in softball

Christina Marengi launched the town's softball program three years ago. It now operates under the umbrella of Winthrop Little League with eight summer Major and Minor Division teams and four spring travel teams.

A former Winthrop High star quarterback, Emanuelson has watched the resurgence from the perspective of Little League president and softball parent. Matthew and Elizabeth Emanuelson's daughter, Kelly, plays in the softball league. Their son, Zach, plays baseball in the Winthrop Little League, which had 300 overall participants this season. Their youngest daughter, Lindsay, starts in T-Ball next spring.

Winthrop Little League President Matthew Emanuelson is pictured with his daughter, Kelly Emanuelson, who plays for the Lime team in the town's rapidly growing youth softball program.

"The softball program has really grown," said Matthew Emanuelson. "The growth from Year 1 to Year 2 was well above expectations and we've steadily grown since. And it showed a good demand that the town needed. Christina really saw a great opportunity for the girls in our town. Tyson Graygor has really been helping Christina and putting himself in a good position with softball."

Speaking about his daughter Kelly's participation, Matthew said, "All of the softball coaches have been amazing, especially Kelly's coaches (Melissa Kelly, Nick Farmer, and Lindsay Salas. They've done a great job trying to keep the players engaged, moving forward, fundamentals, and responsibilities. The coaches sacrifice a lot for the girls."

Future bright for Winthrop softball

Could we see a strong run in the MIAA state championships for a Winthrop High School team in the immediate future? Are there young Lisa Monteleone-Ferraras and Lisa Gill Howards currently competing on the 'A' and 'C' softball fields?

The answer is likely yes. Emanuelson said there are some talented players competing in the youth softball program, noting the emergence of ace pitcher, Brielle MacFarland, whose father, Rob MacFarland, was a hockey standout for the Vikings in the early 2000s.

"Brielle's very good," said Emanuelson. "She takes private lessons and plays on AAU teams. Brielle's sister, Mia, is one of the better all-around players in the Minor Division. She plays really hard."

Emanuelson is excited about the future of softball in Winthrop.

"I think we have some great young players coming up, and it's great to get them started early just like baseball does," said Emanuelson. "Our baseball and softball program have really caught on over the last year. I think there is a lot of momentum leading to the high school level. We stress the fundamentals, stress the basics, but we try to make it fun."

in the town in 15 years. Superintendent of Schools Lisa Howard spoke about the need for the override, as well as how the school department has made the most of the resources it has had over the past several years, at Tuesday night's council meeting.

"This year, we presented a budget for $37,684,208, probably the most transparent budget I have ever created in seven years of creating budgets," said Howard. "We received, after lots of discussion back and forth, $36,141,803."

Howard said the schools are well aware of the town's budget situation and grateful for that amount of money, but said it was about $1.4 million short of what the schools needed to open the doors for the new fiscal year on July 1.

"We ... made $1.49 million worth of cuts that is actually putting us behind the eight ball moving into FY26, at the jump, $4.4 million," said Howard.

With increases in costs coming in above the 2.5 percent the town is allowed to increase the tax levy each year, Howard said the schools would be faced with difficult decisions without the override. To open for FY25, Howard said the district had to drain almost all of its revolving accounts and made staffing cuts, not replacing two elementary teacher positions.

Howard said the town's access to grants is also decreasing.

"Our access to money to offset the future that we face in the FY26 budget is certainly not there," said Howard.

The superintendent said the override is critical and necessary for the district's students.

"I would like a $10 million override, or a $25 million override, but we have to be realistic to what the people in the community can handle, including myself, who is a homeowner of 30-some odd years," said Howard. "So I do understand the impact with our families. Not only do our kids deserve it, our community deserves it, and our future deserves it."

Council President Jim Letterie said there were many factors that went into the override request from the schools.

"The school committee discussed a needs-based override; you have to look at what you can offer the children and the families of the town to maintain services that the town currently has; how long do we want this override to last," said Letterie.

While there hasn't been an override vote in the town since 2009, Letterie said the schools probably would have requested one three or four years ago if it wasn't for the federal relief funds schools received in the week of Covid.

"Winthrop was extremely fortunate and prudent in the way it used its ESSER (Covid relief) funds and other Covid-related monies, they tried their very hardest not to use these monies for recurring expenses," said Letterie.

The council president clarified that the override request is for the operating budget of the school, not for capital or maintenance expenses. He said the override funds are to maintain the integrity of the schools as costs continue to rise.

"The school committee and the superintendent especially have worked incredibly hard in the last several years to try to maintain a class size in the lower 20s," said Letterie. "Several years back, back in the mid-2000s, we were approaching the upper 20s in some classrooms and lower 30s and we thought that was unacceptable and we did the best we could. Now, we've structured things in such a way with the school committee, the superintendent, and her staff that we are able to offer an incredibly competitive education in a safe, clean environment with class sizes in the low 20s."

Over the weeks and months leading up to the override vote in November, Letterie said the key is education about what the override will mean for the schools and for residents. He noted that there will be a citizens' committee for the override and urged anyone with questions about the override to direct their questions to legitimate sources of information such as the committee, the superintendent, and school committee members.

"I'm not here to tell you how to vote, I'm here to educate you, ask questions, and find answers to just vote on the facts," said Letterie. "If you literally cannot afford it, you should not be voting for it, and if you can afford it in some way, shape, or form and you believe in the facts, you believe that it is going to the right places, you should fund this."

NARGI COMPLETES INTENSIVE RESEARCH PROJECT

Clare Nargi, of Winthrop a member of the class of 2024 majoring in Biology and Biotechnology at Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI), recently completed a senior thesis that is required of all graduating seniors as part of the university's distinctive project-based educational experience. The project, Artemisinin's Effect on Iron Metabolism in Cancer Cells, was Clare's Major Qualifying Project (MQP), one that is usually team-based and often focuses on very specific issues or needs of an organization that has partnered with the university to sponsor the student's work.

"It's inspiring to see the creativity and skills that our students bring to these projects, as well as the professionalism with which they present their research," says Arne Gericke, interim dean of undergraduate studies and director of the Office of Undergraduate Research. "Their experience managing a major project like this-including identifying a problem and researching all of the implications and possible solutions while also managing team dynamics over an extended period of several months-sets them up well for success not only in their first jobs after graduation but throughout their careers."

Margaret "Peggy" Pacifico

Retired Nurse

Margaret "Peggy" Pacifico, 90, previously of Arlington, has lived happily at Seal Harbor in Winthrop for the past 25 years. She was lost to us on August 3, 2024 after a series of medical issues.

She leaves two children, Paula Trubitt of San Diego and Steven Pacifico, a resident of Westford, Mass, six adored grandchildren: Harrison Trubitt, Adam Trubitt, Michelle Pacifico, Lindsey Pacifico, Taylor Pacifico, and Cameron "C.J." Pacifico, as well as her son-in-law, Hayden Trubitt and daughter-in-law, Gail Pacifico. ALL have been so fortunate to have been loved by her so much. She was preceded in death by her husband of 43 years, Louis Pacifico, in 1999, who grew up and at one time owned a pharmacy in East Boston.

Peggy was born in Boston to Lena Hunter Wright and Garfield Wright, both originally of Nova Scotia, Canada. As "Peggy Wright," she grew up in Barre, MA where her father owned a plumbing business. After high school graduation, at the age of 17, she entered the Mass General School of Nursing, graduating in 1954 and soon after became a night supervisor in the Baker Building; she also worked on a ward in the Bullfinch Building, and cared for polio patients encased in Iron Lungs.

Peggy met her husband, Lou, while there, when he was working as a night intake clerk at the Mass General Emergency Room while attending the New England College of Pharmacy. They married in 1956 and he graduated in 1958.

Peggy and Lou purchased a home in Arlington in 1959 and she left Mass General to care for her father who died that year of cancer, as well as caring for her two-year-old daughter and supporting her mother, Lena. Peggy's son, Steven, was born in 1961, and she remained at home to care for her children for 12 years.

Peggy returned to nursing after 12 years, and worked at Pine Knoll Nursing Home in Lexington for 25 years. She had many friends there, several of which she had been in touch with until her death.

Peggy greatly enjoyed many summer months with her young family on Cape Cod often braving the low water temperatures and high surf at Nauset Beach in Orleans. She enjoyed two trips to Italy, a trip to Scotland, several cruises with her children and grandchildren, helicoptered to a glacier in Alaska, and in 2008 traveled to the jungles of Costa Rica with her son, Steven's family.

Peggy also owned a condo on the beach in St. Augustine, Florida which she purchased with her husband and owned for 30 years. After retiring, they planned to spend more time there, but Lou died of a sudden heart attack in 1999 at age 70, just weeks after they had moved from their Arlington home of 40 years and into their Seal Harbor condo. Originally planning to sell the Florida condo soon after his death, Peggy began spending many months there, often in the fall and again in the Spring, making many friends and often enjoying visits from her children and grandchildren, as well as spending several Thanksgivings with her in-laws, Claire and Norman Webber. For over 20 years, upon returning home to Winthrop in December, she then flew to San Diego to stay with her daughter's family until the end of January.

An avid, very accomplished knitter, we will remain blanketed by her love in the beautiful, colorful handmade afghans that she so generously shared. She was also very advanced in solving Sudoku puzzles and loved to read, often spending many contented hours each day engaged in both pastimes. She was a serious adversary when playing board games, Monopoly, Sorry! (especially, Sorry!- ask the grandchildren), Crazy Eights, and Gin Rummy card games.

In Winthrop, Peggy was active in the Winthrop Ladies Lodge #2071, enjoyed fish dinners at the Elk's Lodge, local restaurants, and was a regular for many years at the Winthrop Senior's Center for exercise, weekly Bingo, and bus trips.

Family and friends are cordially invited to attend the visitation from the Caggiano-O'Maley-Frazier Funeral Home, Winthrop on Monday, August 12 from 11 a.m. to 12 noon followed by a graveside service in Woodlawn Cemetery in Everett at 12:30 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, please keep Peggy in your thoughts and prayers.

Remembering Winthrop's Son William J. Levine

October 14, 1942 – May 28, 2024

William "Bill" Levine was born in Winthrop, and passed away in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Survived by his wife Mary Margaret, his son Bill, daughter Laura, and 5 grandchildren.

Last Saturday afternoon the combined extended families of the Levine's and Adamson's, along with lifelong friends from Winthrop and surrounding areas gathered at the Winthrop Golf Club for a "Celebration of Life" for Bill Levine. A man who enjoyed life to the fullest, who faced every one of life's challenges, and loved and supported his family. Bill's life will be an inspiration to all that knew him; by keeping his memory in their hearts, they will keep a smile on their faces.

William J. Levine left a legacy of family and friends, shown here is the extended families of the Levine's and Adamson's.

Shown in the photo are Bill Levine and Steve Adamson, best friends and named after their fathers that were best friends. William Levine and Steve Adamson are both in the University of Wyoming "All American" Hall of Fame. The more things change, the more they remain the same. These two men have been friends their entire lives, and a true testament of Winthrop's bonds to family and friends.

Bill and Peggy Levine are shown with their sons, John, Patrick, and Will.

William's son Bill addressed his family and friends at the Winthrop Golf Club last Saturday afternoon. A "Celebration of Life" for his dad, filled the main room at the club with friends and family, recalling memories of their time together, and enjoying the many intimate photos of family events they shared with Bill.

Friends of Bill Levine at the Winthrop Golf Club, Jim Lederman, Ira Yavner, Doug and Bob Miline.
